A Sermon In Poland

A news story sets you to thinking.

It is from a town in Poland.

It is Czestachowa. It is an old city on the Warta River. It is on a rail junction. It is a busy town, manufacturing textiles, paper, steel, leather.

Here is a capsule history. In 1655 the Swedes attacked it in an invasion of Poland and Russia. This time a group of Pauline fathers held out in a monastery. They delayed things long enough for the main Polish army to defeat the invasion. In 1705 the Swedes tried again. And failed. The Russians succeeded in 1772. The Prussians took it in 1793. In 1914 the Germans captured it. They did it again in 1939.

It is a city which has known centuries of misery, suffering, grief and not much joy.

The other day it was in the news. Some 100,000 Poles came there to celebrate the anniversary of that victory of the Swedes. It was, as it had to be, a patriotic and religious ceremony.

Cardinal Wyszinski was there. Thin and pale, he preached a sermon and assisted in a mass.

Historic Dispute

Poland is a Communist country. It lies on the flat plains of historic dispute. It hates Germans and Russians. But the latter are powerful. The Germans are not. Poland, in the hands of Communists, must look toward Russia. But they do not see their prospects with rose colored glasses, to say nothing of red ones. They wait.

Cardinal Wyszinski preached.

Now, you must understand Poland is Communist. Gomulka, a tough, dedicated Communist, is head of it. But he is a Pole. So is the Cardinal. Poland is Communist, but it is not Russian. So, the Cardinal said, in his sermon:

"Governments come and go. But the family and the church remain."

He went on.

He spoke of a danger, stemming from hopes in "certain quarters" that the Polish people would become indifferent to religion. He was, he said, not afraid of this.

Calmly, clearly, the Cardinal took up the matter of the so-called Polish national church. It is composed of priests who have broken with Papal authority. The Soviets are trying to create such a church in Russia. They have not yet succeeded.

No believer, be he Jew, Roman Catholic, Protestant or Moslem, can fail to be thrilled by the pale, thin Cardinal standing there in Poland proclaiming his faith and that of the people.

Important Point

We see here, too, an important point.

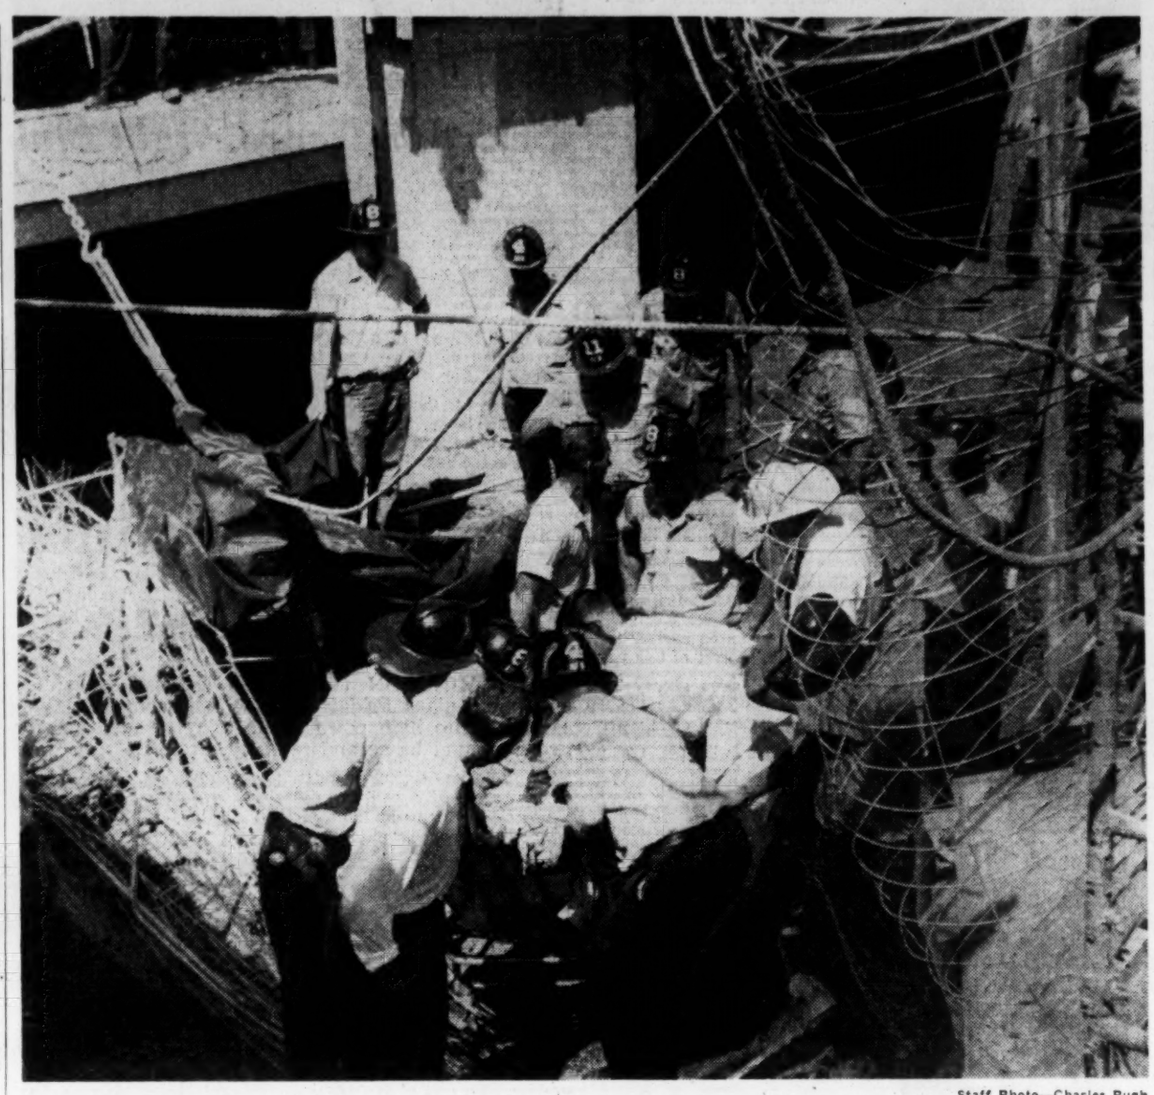

There are several economic communisms.

There are those of Mao Tse-tung; of Tito; of Gomulka; of Khrushchev, who lately has added the most blatant of bourgeois customs, installment buying; and that of East Germany and Hungary where discontent simmers.

What is more important is that in all these places communism for some people substitutes for religion. But it has never yet succeeded in doing so where there was an established belief in one God. The Mohammedan Middle East approaches Moscow but draws back. Lutheran East Germany resists. Catholic Poland refuses. The weakest Communist party is in America.

Khrushchev knows that he has changed Stalin's Communist concept. Stalin, to repeat a cliche, is known today as whirling Joe. If he could come back he would decapitate Nikita. There is but one great revolution at work today. It is the universal desire of people to live a little better. For many of these the ideology of communism is a religion, as it was to many innocent people in the twenties before the economic and political theory was understood. But, today, even Khrushchev is reforming its economics. Only those who have never known the stability of belief have accepted it as a religion.

The answer would seem clear in at least one aspect. It is for believers—Christian and Jew—to stand up and be counted against prejudice, discriminations, and anything else which denies the dignity and freedom of man.

FIREMEN REMOVE VICTIM FROM CONCRETE, STEEL TANGLE IN CONSTRUCTION CAVE-IN

One Killed, 16 Injured as Third-Story Form Buckles In Downtown Building Skeleton, Dumping New Cement 29 Feet

Floor of Skyscraper Falls, Kills Foreman

A labor foreman was killed here when he was buried beneath tons of steel scaffolding and freshly poured concrete Friday after he rushed to the aid of several injured workers.

Charles H. Crawford, 49, was killed and 15 workers and a fireman were injured when two sections of a still-soft concrete floor collapsed and fell 29 feet at the 21-story Georgia Power Co. building under construction at Peachtree and Baker streets.

By JACK NELSON

A small section of the third floor buckled first, injuring five workers. Minutes later — while scores of workers were removing the injured—a larger section collapsed, dumping more than 40 tons of scaffolding, reinforcement rods, wet concrete and lumber to the first floor. (The second floor in that section of the building has not been constructed.)

The sections that fell measured a total of 25 by 50 feet.

CAUGHT IN DEBRIS

Workers scattered in all directions when the second cave-in came without warning. Crawford and several workers were caught in the debris. Ten workers were injured in the second collapse and several of them had to be helped from the twisted wreckage by rescue workers.

Crawford's body was not recovered for almost three hours. The tragedy occurred shortly after 9 a.m.

Rescue workers were not sure anyone was beneath the debris until they reached the foreman's body at 11:15 a.m. Until then, Crawford was listed as missing.

It took a rescue crew, working with the aid of acetylene torches, a wrecker and a crane, almost an hour to free the body after it was located. The body was pinned beneath a large piece of scaffolding and concrete. The concrete had begun to harden.

FIREMAN HURT

None of the 15 injured workmen was hurt seriously.

A fireman doing rescue work, George W. Bryant, 24, suffered a laceration of the right thigh. Bryant and the injured workers were treated at Grady Hospital.

A Jack Buckled And Then It Hit

By HARRIETTE WEINSTEIN

A pretty blond Atlantan picked up the phone at her desk in the Hurt Building to hear the news of the Georgia Power Co. building cave-in.

"All I could think of was my husband is working on that building," said Mrs. T. E. Fuller, who immediately ran all the way from her office to the building site.

The phone message, from a power company employe, had only said there had been a cave-in and some men were trapped.

Even after talking with her husband and assuring herself of his safety, Mrs. Fuller clutched the triple strand of pearls around her neck to keep her hands from shaking.

"He was standing on top of whatever caved in," she said quietly. "I'm glad things like this don't happen often. I couldn't take it."

Fuller, an engineer, has been in construction work only one year. He formerly worked as an engineer for an insurance company.

Near the building area, a Vil-

Atlanta to Broil Under 95 Highs Over Weekend

Fast-fading August will keep the blow-torch turned on a fast-wilting Atlanta through the weekend, with partly cloudy skies and scattered thundershowers forecast.

Well-grilled Atlantans are expected to sizzle some more under heat peaks of 95 both Saturday and Sunday. The weatherman forecast 73-lows for both days.

The mercury in Atlanta Friday bounced from a low of 74 to a high of 96, two degrees cooler than the record for the date set in 1954.

Bug Raider Is Choked By Suspect

By KEELER McCARTNEY

A policeman and a lottery suspect were injured Friday during a battle that developed when Metropolitan Lottery Squad officers raided what they described as a lottery headquarters on Atlanta's southside.

James Henry Johnson, 42, of a Pegg road, SW, address, who gave his occupation as a farmer, was treated at Grady Hospital for abrasions and then jailed under $5,000 bond on charges of lottery and $1,000 bond on charges of assault on an officer.

Johnson's son, James Carlos Johnson, 17, was placed under $2,500 bond on lottery charges, Lt. W. M. Cox, squad chief, said.

CHOKED, BITTEN

Patrolman R. E. Martin was severely choked and bitten on the shoulder during a melee with the elder Johnson as the raid started, Cox said. Martin also was treated at Grady Hospital.

A 12-year-old daughter of Johnson was dressing to go skating when the raid began and was permitted to carry out her plans.

Cox said the raid began shortly after noon. The Pegg road house had been under surveillance for several days. Cox said he and other officers watched father and son drive up in a 1959 model Oldsmobile and then closed in.

The father slammed the front door and locked it, shouting to the son to close the back door. Cox said he and Detective J. W. Elliott forced open the rear door while Patrolman J. W. Brown and Martin kicked in the front door.

DISPOSAL ATTEMPT CHARGED

The father was frantically flushing lottery tickets down the toilet, officers said. Brown, Martin and Elliott said they seized the father and attempted to wrest the tickets from him. Cox remained in the kitchen with the son.

Cox said officers asked the father to open a locked door leading to a bedroom and he refused.

"We went there with a warrant," Cox said. "He refused sev-

None No Happier, Says Rosa Ingram

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Rosa Lee Ingram, a plain, uneducated Negro farm woman whose name became a national rallying cry when she and her two teenage sons were convicted of murdering their white neighbor in Schley County 11 years ago, sat in an Atlanta home Friday afternoon receiving congratulatory friends and savouring her new freedom.

"Can't nobody be no happier than me," the plump, dark-skinned woman said fervently. "When the man told me I was paroled Wednesday I just slapped my hands and said, 'Thank you, Jesus!' "

Mrs. Ingram, 54 years old, sat between her sons, Wallace, 27, and Sammy, 26, who were convicted with her in 1948 and paroled with her Wednesday. They occupied a sofa at one end of the West Hunter street living room of C. R. Yates, Negro drugstore chain owner, who worked for their release and has jobs for them. A constant stream of people filed by to shake their hands and wish them well, many of them Atlanta Negro leaders but some, like the Rev. S. M. Holton, pastor of a Negro Baptist church in Americus, old friends and neighbors.

"Peoples been trying to get us out a pretty good time," Mrs.

California Signs For Extradition Of Motherwell

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown Friday signed papers seeking extradition from Georgia of Larry Lord Motherwell, accused of slaying a 72-year-old widow.

Officers will leave Saturday for Atlanta to get the suspect.

Motherwell, 43, was arrested in Atlanta shortly after the bones of Mrs. Pearl Putney were found on a lonely mountain road near Downieville, Calif. She had last been seen a year earlier with Motherwell in Marysville, Calif. Mrs. Putney was said to have $50,000 in cash and securities when she left Washington, D.C., with Motherwell.

Japan Airs Plea To Curb Exports

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government Friday considered a request from U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II to restrict sharply increased exports to the United States. MacArthur told Hayato Ikeda, minister of international trade and industry, at a two-hour meeting Thursday that a spurt in Japanese exports during the first half of 1959 had caused an unfavorable U.S. trade balance with Japan.

Policeman Killed By Speeding Car; Partner Injured

Auto Rams 2 Cycles From Rear

One Atlanta motorcycle patrolman was killed late Friday and another injured seriously when their machines were struck by a speeding car on Marietta Boulevard, NW, police said.

Patrolman J. C. Busby was instantly killed, Patrolman C. L. Queen said. Patrolman Ned C. Oliver, of 1560 Carroll Dr., NW, was admitted to Grady Hospital with a badly mangled left leg. Patrolman Busby's home was at Austell.

The crash occurred on Marietta Boulevard a half mile south of Bolton road.

BOTH WERE JAILED

Police identified the driver of the auto as Carl Wallace, 30, of 2039 Hollywood Rd., NW. They said Wallace was accompanied by Cecil Cooper, 35, of Mableton. Both were jailed on charges of suspicion of murder pending completion of the investigation.

One witness estimated the speed of the car at between 90 and 100 miles per hour when it struck the motorcycles from the rear, Queen said.

Officers said the car traveled a total of 779 feet from the initial impact and came to rest with the front of the vehicle atop the motorcycle Busby had been riding.

Busby's body was found beside the road 459 feet back from where the car and motorcycle stopped, Queen added.

TELLS OF CRASH

Detective R. H. Sumpter found Busby's service revolver beside the road, partially buried in sand. One chamber had been fired. Sumpter said presumably the gun was discharged when it was knocked out of its holster and driven into the ground by the car.

Superintendent James F. Brown said Oliver told him he and Busby were riding south on Mariet-

Works Veto Chills Hopes for Recess

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's veto of a billion-dollar public works money bill—including $44,400,000 for Georgia water projects—probably has ended prospects for an early adjournment of Congress.

The President vetoed the bill in one of his last official actions before leaving for Europe. He objected to it mainly because of provisions to plan or start 67 unbudgeted projects.

These projects, he said, eventually would cost $800 million. He had asked for no new starts this year.

Sen. Russell, who wants to override the veto, predicted Friday Congress would be unable to finish its work before Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit Sept. 15.

India Army Masses at China Line

By WATSON SIMS

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India braced Friday night for military action if necessary against Red Chinese troops who Prime Minister Nehru said have occupied two Himalayan frontier areas.

"There is no alternative but to defend our borders," Nehru told Parliament.

He announced Indian troop movements, but made clear he hopes the entire issue can be settled by negotiation.

This was the situation as he outlined it:

Several hundred Communist Chinese troops attacked a border post this week, routed the defenders and seized sections of India's northeast frontier agency south of Tibet. That is the area where the Dalai Lama, Tibet's god-king, crossed into exile in India after the Tibetan uprising against Red rule last spring. Three Indian frontier patrolmen are missing and their companions, perhaps out of ammunition, are in retreat.

The Indian army has been ordered to take direct control of the sprawling, 35,000-mile agency — the home of independence - minded Naga headhunters. It was pre-

It's 'Happy School Days' As Youngsters Troop In

By MARION GAINES

"Happy school days!"

That's what the switchboard operator at the Atlanta Board of Education said all day long Friday—and it seemed to sum up the feelings of principals, teachers and pupils as city schools whizzed through their "smoothest opening day ever."

Greeting every telephone caller with the "happy" message was her own idea, said Mrs. Gladys Price, who mans the phone lines in the board of education offices.

"Most people who call are connected in some way with the schools," she explained. "And I thought they'd appreciate a cheerful greeting after all the opening-day turmoil."

Mrs. Price's cheery message didn't go unappreciated, but there apparently was less opening-day turmoil than usual in the city's sprawling public school system.

"All reports I've received indicate it was the smoothest opening-day we've eve had," said Miss Ira Jarrell, city school superintendent.

The first day of school was "well-organized," she said, because principals have been at their desks for the past two weeks

Ike Visits Queen at Balmoral As Scots Roar Out Welcome

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — The Scots gave President Eisenhower the greatest welcome ever accorded a foreigner on his arrival Friday for a social visit with Queen Elizabeth II.

They gathered in throngs all along the 40 miles from Aberdeen, where his plane landed from London, to Balmoral. They cheered and waved.

Although several months pregnant, the Queen herself brushed aside official plans, left Balmoral Castle and drove the half mile to the gates of the estate to welcome the first American president ever to visit Scotland.

Friday night, after a picnic on the grounds, Eisenhower and the Queen relaxed before a cozy log fire in the castle and talked of peace, babies and absent friends.

By EDDY GILMORE

Prince Philip, Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret at times joined the friendly, highly informal conversation.

The peace talk covered the weighty mission that brought the President across the Atlantic to see his coleaders of the West before meeting Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The talk on absent friends centered on Mrs. Eisenhower.

Few people went to and from the castle, but the word was brought out that the talk had turned easily to babies.

The Queen is expecting her third child in late January or early February.

Ike met her other two children — Prince Charles and Princess Anne—at a castle luncheon.

This was Eisenhower's second visit to Scotland. He visited Balmoral in 1946 as the guest of the Queen's late father, King George VI. At that time he was supreme commander of the Allied forces.

Scottish officials said that never in their memory had there ever been such an enthusiastic turnout for a foreigner—or any one else for that matter.

In the crowds along the way from Aberdeen were hundreds of schoolchildren. They shouted greetings and waved American flags—some of them hand made.

Eisenhower was visibly touched. Time and again he slowed his car to a near halt to be able to smile his thanks to the throngs so close to his car.

He would lean forward, grin and wave.

Occasionally the enthusiasm was so great that he turned and commented to Prince Philip, driving with him.

At one place, children from a tiny schoolhouse hauled their blackboard alongside the road and pointed to what they had scrawled in chalk: "Welcome President Eisenhower."

Cmdr. Richard Colville, a palace spokesman, said the Queen decided some days ago to go out and meet Eisenhower at the gates of Balmoral Castle.

But she decided not to disclose this for fear of being tied down by formal ceremony.

There was a guard of honor which was for the President and if she had been there officially she would have had to take precedence—creating a formal setting for what was intended to be an informal reunion.

The Queen and the President began animated conversation from the moment the 68-year-old chief executive got out of his car.

They chatted, smiled and commented on the Queen's bodyguard, the Royal Highland Fusiliers — especially when the bagpipes began to wail.

Eisenhower went out for the picnic with the royal family at a secluded spot on the estate. After lunch the party changed into country garb and sat around chatting until 3:30.

Then they piled into automobiles and drove around the estate, the Queen acting as driver for Eisenhower, his son Maj. John Eisenhower, Princess Margaret, and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's physician.

After breakfast at the castle—and it will be an early one—the President will leave Balmoral at 8 a.m. accompanied by Prince Philip.

Eisenhower will take off from Aberdeen's Dyce Airport on his way to a weekend of talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Chequers, the official country home of Macmillan.

Herter, Lloyd Clear Decks For Ike-Macmillan Meetings

LONDON (AP) — The foreign ministers of Britain and the United States cleared the decks Friday for a survey of major world affairs by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The President and Prime Minister begin their talks in secrecy Saturday. They will carry on through the weekend.

Secretary of State Herter and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd brought American and British views into line on a variety of issues involving relations with the Soviet Union.

These were the highlights given by American and British spokesmen:

1. The disarmament problem. Qualified sources reported a new Western move is imminent here. American - British - French messages will soon ask the Soviet Union to join in a request to the United Nations formally to turn over long-stalled disarmament negotiations to a new 10-nation body to have headquarters in Geneva, they said. There would be five Western and five Communist nations in the group.

2. U.N. General Assembly problems.

This was presumed by informants to include methods of dealing with the issue of Algeria. A number of Asian and African powers are planning to indict France for its campaign against Algerian nationalist rebels.

3. The Berlin crisis and the German problem.

In this context it was understood the issue arose of a long-projected Big Four summit conference. Lloyd apparently restated the British view that top-level talks are essential and inevitable. The American view is that the Soviets must first give some clear indication progress is possible, either on a stopgap Berlin deal or on the reunion of Germany.

4. American-British-Soviet negotiations for a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

Herter and Lloyd were reported to be still hopeful that an agreement will be negotiated with the Russians allowing for control and inspections arrangements.

5. The spread of the Red-led insurrection in Laos.

Lloyd told Herter Britain still believes the Soviet Union will accept the idea of sending a U. N. team of investigators to Laos. Both men reportedly are worried by on-the-spot reports suggesting that Red rebels are winning ground from the pro-Western Laotian government.

The chief spokesman of the British foreign office, Peter Hope, with Andrew H. Berding, U. S. assistant secretary of state, at his side, told reporters: "As a result of the day's meetings the two ministers have opened the way for talks on the major issues between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan."

Rocket Ship Grounded by Fuel Leak

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A leak in a line carrying fuel for an auxiliary power system held the X15 rocket plane earthbound Friday.

"I'm extremely disappointed," test pilot Scott Crossfield told reporters. He added, however, he does not consider postponement of the plane's first power flight a real setback in its calendar.

Crossfield spent more than two hours in his space suit within the cockpit while technicians worked on the hydrogen peroxide system. Despite temperatures in the 90s, he suffered no discomfort because the cockpit was ventilated.

A successful initial flight will be a major step in development of the X15, designed to carry a man at least 100 miles high at speeds near 4,000 miles an hour.

The leak did not involve the plane's fuel system. Crossfield said the faulty line carried hydrogen peroxide used to provide electricity for auxiliary power for hydraulic controls and communications.

Reds Vow Equal Ban On A-Tests

Won't Resume Until U.S. Does

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said Friday night it will not conduct any nuclear weapons tests so long as the Western powers likewise refrain.

It also said again it is willing to sign an agreement to halt all tests of the atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The declaration was a response to American and British announcements this week extending the Western ban on nuclear tests at least for the rest of this year.

The official news agency Tass announced the action by the Soviet Union's Council of Ministers.

The Soviets will not resume its tests if the Western powers do not, the Soviet statement added: "Only in case of resumption by them of nuclear weapons tests will the Soviet Union be free from this pledge."

BRITAIN REFRAINS

An announcement in Washington Wednesday said the United States as extending a suspension of tests from Oct. 31 to Dec. 31. Britain announced the following day its ban on nuclear weapons tests will go on as long as talks among the three nuclear powers on a suspension treaty show some prospect of success.

The Washington announcement of the extension came on the day a six-week late summer recess was called by Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union in their Geneva negotiations on a nuclear test ban.

LASTS A YEAR

The original U.S. test halt was announced Aug. 22, 1958, and was to last one year from the time the Geneva talks began. They started last Oct. 31.

(The Soviets have not fired any nuclear explosions that the West has detected since Nov. 3, 1958.)

3 Beat Up Policeman In Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — Violence broke out in Harlem Friday night when three Negroes attacked and beat a white policeman.

Police gave this account:

The three men were in a car stopped for going through a red light. As Patrolman Walter J. Verville was writing out a ticket, the driver of the car got out and began to argue with him.

The other two men also got out of the car, and the three beat the policeman to the sidewalk, took away his gun, and ripped his badge from his shirt.

Then they fled on foot.

Verville chased them, and was joined by an off-duty patrolman, John Hersey, a Negro. Hersey fired four shots at the fleeing men. They returned the fire.

A bystander, John Buckingham, 25, also a Negro, was shot in the leg.

The three escaped, but police later rounded up three suspects, and said one of them had been shot in the hand.

Little Rock Segregationist Seized in Negro Night Club

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Robert J. Norwood, head of the Arkansas States Rights Council and one of those arrested during a segregationist march on Central High School Aug. 12, was picked up by police Friday in a Negro night club.

Norwood was charged with drunkenness and was released on a $15.50 bond about an hour after his arrest.

He was charged with loitering after he was arrested during the clash between marchers and police near the integrated school on opening day. That case is scheduled for hearing Sept. 17 in Municipal Court.

Police Lt. Carl E. Jackson said he was called to the Negro night club about 2 a.m. by a Negro policeman who reported a "drunk white man" in the place. Jackson said he found Norwood sitting at the bar with a group of Negroes.

U.S. Polar Satellites To Relay Messages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense department announced plans Friday night to hurl communications satellites into high polar orbits to relay messages between ground bases and military aircraft.

The satellite communications system apparently will be designed chiefly for us by the Strategic Air Command's globe-girdling hydrogen bombers.

The plan was disclosed in a brief announcement that development controcts would be awarded to General Electric Co. and the Bendix Aviation Corp.

General Electric will develop the satellite vehicle system at a cost of $5,500,000. Bendix will develop the communications subsystem, or "talking" part of the satellite, at a cost of $8,500,000.

The project carries the name "Notus," a Greek word meaning "the south wind."

"The polar communications satellite, which will provide reliable two-way instantaneous communications in the polar regions, will be integrated into an overall global satellite communications network," the department said.

It had been disclosed previously that the department was working on a communications satellite system intended to provide 20 continously available 100-word-a minute teletype channels to repeat messages transmitted between ground stations.

That project is called "Courier" and involves satellites launched into 300- to 500-mile high orbits. They may be tested late this year or in early 1960.

The polar orbiting satellites to be developed by G-E and Bendix will operate at altitudes of "several thousand miles" above earth, defense sources said. They are intended to be free of both enemy jamming and natural interference.

Atlanta Girl, 16, Shot by 'Empty' Target Pistol

A 16-year-old girl Friday was accidentally wounded with a target pistol, police said.

Patricia Eves, of 4012 Peachtree-Dunwoody Rd., NE, was admitted to Crawford W. Long Hospital with a bullet wound through the abdominal wall. Detectives J. F. Johnson and R. P. McGee said her condition was listed as good.

Detectives said they were told Miss Eves and Don Leslie Gee, 19, of 3535 Roswell Rd., NW, were preparing for target practice.

The youth said he thought he had emptied the pistol and then snapped it.

Divorcee To Die as Love Killer

Blames Boy Friend For Slaying Wife

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Edith Klumpp was sentenced to die on Dec. 15 despite a last-minute statement Friday that it was her lover, William Bergen, who committed the murder for which she was convicted.

Mrs. Klumpp, a 41-year-old divorcee and mother of four, was convicted July 2 of killing Bergen's estranged wife, Louise, 32. Mrs. Klumpp and Bergen, 31, admitted they had been living together as man and wife for five months.

She stood tight-lipped and showing no outward emotion as her attorney, William F. Hopkins, read a five-page statement which he said she gave him Aug. 17 after telling the story to the Rev. Oscar Minyard, the jail chaplain.

In it, she not only accused Bergen of being involved in the killing of his wife, last Oct. 30, but also said he was the one who burned the body at Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County.

She said she was away from her automobile when Mrs. Bergen was shot but that Bergen told her his wife had a gun in her hand and that it was discharged when he grabbed her arm.

Courts Are Geared To Horseback Era

The mills of justice grind so slowly these days they almost come to a complete stop.

Courts of the nation are jammed, particularly with civil suits for damages.

In Fulton County, the Institute of Judicial Administration reports it now takes an average of 10 months for a damages case to come to a jury trial after the parties are "at issue."

"At issue" means after the plaintiff has petitioned for redress and the defendant has filed an answer, or after the challenger has thrown down the gauntlet and the challenged has picked it up.

Obviously, that is too much of an interim.

One has faith in the courts as an avenue for equity only when the way is fair, firm and fast.

There are more people in the nation and in Fulton County. More and more people get in the way of automobiles. The courts are geared largely to the horse and buggy or even to the man on horseback.

Justice today is not only blind. Often it is hard of hearing and exceedingly lame.

Judicial reform which brings the courts in step with the age of automobiles and automation becomes more and more a "must."

Peoples Everywhere Show Desire for Peace

Nothing more vividly reveals the deep, universal yearning for peace than the reception given President Eisenhower in London.

The crowd was larger than that which recently greeted the Queen on her return home from Canada. Many persons wept openly. The British people sense the sincerity of Mr. Eisenhower even though they may differ on certain points of procedure.

The Russians who greeted Vice President Nixon on his journey and who shouted "Mir! Mir!" ("Peace, Peace") also were expressing this universal desire for a release from fear of war.

It is this which provides the slight urge of optimism about the Eisenhower-Khrushchev visits. No decisions will be reached save, we trust, one which will permit negotiations to begin. This has not heretofore been possible at the ministers' meetings.

The world has been living in a state of uneasy coexistence since the end of the second great war. We are in a state of coexistence in Korea between North and South Korea. We are in a state of coexistence with East Germany and West Germany, and with Berlin, isolated in Communist East Germany.

How to give such coexistence an honorable status is the problem.

Let those who oppose the talks heed the yearning of people for honorable peace.

Macon County Chooses To Consolidate Schools

Parents of Macon County have decided to put the scholastic welfare of their children first. Macon County has 325 children of high school age.

At the request of parents in each school district, the Macon County Board of Education voted last week to consolidate the high schools of the county.

This is a sensible move. It reveals parents of Macon County truly are interested in the future of their children. They wish to see them provided with an adequate education so that later on they will be able to compete in an increasingly complex and competitive society.

Too many counties in Georgia are sacrificing the future of children on the altar of politics and self-interest. In smaller high schools, especially those which have less than 100 students in them, it is miraculous when a student gets a good education. Students in these schools are penalized every way they turn.

The schools do not have the laboratory facilities, equipment or instructors to teach the sciences adequately. They do not have the money to hire an adequate number of teachers. Teachers who are provided too often have to double up and do inconsequential chores, with little time left for creative teaching.

All over the South education is catching up with the rest of the country. But we still have a long way to go. Consolidation of high schools, as Dr. Conant suggested recently in his report on American education, is the swiftest, surest, easiest and most economical way to do the job.

If your child is attending an unusually small high school which you feel is unable to do an adequate job in education, then you can do as the parents in Macon County have done: Speak up for consolidation.

Legal Control Means Enforcement of Law

Georgians will approve Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford's crackdown on liquor law violations throughout the state. His department has handed out fines, license revocations and is conducting further investigations.

The department serves notice that "we intend to follow the law." It thus hopes to end the abuses which have been prevalent for years and make legal control of the whisky traffic a reality. Chief targets now are sales to minors, Sunday sales and dry county operations.

Enforcing liquor laws admittedly is difficult, especially as it regards bootlegging. But the state does have machinery for enforcement and control if it is applied. This Commissioner Oxford demonstrates can be done.

We continue to be pleased at evidence that this administration is attempting to find solutions to recurrent evils in basic phases of government. The revenue department is one agency in which the opportunities for abuse are legion. But fair and impartial administration of the law will bring few critics.

There are, of course, squeals. Attacks on the Vandiver administration and its attempt to operate by law and to practice economy is well understood. It is interesting to note that the shrillest and most vicious of these attacks are coming from those who had their feet abruptly removed from the trough. Nothing wounds a political hog more than that.

Maine Goes Drastic On Driver Licensing

Starting next year, no person under 17 will be licensed to drive in the state of Maine until that person has passed a driver training course, either in a public school or in a state-approved commercial school.

Under the current Maine law, the license is available at 15 if the applicant can pass a written exam and a road test.

The stiffened requirement is an attempt to reduce the number of auto accidents involving teen-age drivers.

"As Maine goes, so goes the nation" no longer holds politically.

But as it affects driver license regulation, we'd like to see the nation go as Maine is going.

Alabama Raises Bid For College Professors

The visitor to the valley noted the neat homes, the fine barns and the trim farms. "What a civic pride this community must have," he said.

"Humph," said a native. "It wasn't civic pride. It was envy that did all that."

Georgia looks with envy at Alabama as it reads that planning at the University of Alabama and at Auburn for the next two years gives priority to raising teacher pay.

Although we have been able to raise salaries for college faculty members, partly through the help from private foundations, the average pay for the full professor in the state is still almost $2,000 less than the average for the nation's land grant colleges.

The competition among the colleges for competent instruction is keen. And likely to continue so.

Our neighbors are bidding higher and higher. Unless our state finds a way to assure its college teachers promotion and pay commensurate with the importance of the job and with offerings in other states, higher education in Georgia is bound to suffer.

Savannah Morning News

Personal use of State Highway Department vehicles will not be tolerated, the highway board has told its employes.

The equipment is not to be used "for any purpose other than official business," a directive reads. No employe will be allowed to drive a Georgia-owned vehicle to and from home except in cases of an emergency.

We admire the highway board for its apparent belief this practice can be stopped. It is a problem that has plagued owners of fleets of "official business only" vehicles practically since the automobile became an institution on American roads.

If the highway board is successful in this effort to restrict personal use of its vehicles, we are sure literally thousands of other automotive fleet owners will want to study how they did it.

"Violators will be promptly dismissed," the directive stated. It may work.

Atlantan Says Khrushchev Visit Can Be Of Incalculable Value to World Diplomacy

Atlanta—It would be a mistake to take too seriously a protest movement by a few with regard to the proposed visit to the United States of Nikita Khrushchev.

Nothing could be more confusing and disarming to an intelligent enemy than to disabuse his mind about your true strength and intent. Where nothing else has influenced the mind of Russia's leaders, surely a visit, not as a murdering butcher of millions but as a top official of a major world power and former ally, not only could do us no harm but could do us and world diplomacy incalculable good.

A graphic picture of a united people striving toward the broadening and strengthening of the democratic processes in government and society, instead of the imaginary one he has of a confused, strife-torn and divided people, would make a profound impression on him.

It is absolutely certain that the old ways of name-calling, sword rattling and threatening can do nothing more than continue the closed circle of "feudin', fussin' and fightin'." Only the spirit of the Prince of Peace in human affairs can take us out of that vicious closed circle into an open circle of world harmony. To be respected we must show our true strength; to be trusted we must show our good intentions.

Nixon's Growth Called Incomplete

Atlanta — Caroline Simpson in her well-written letter about Vice President Nixon stated facts, true facts, and should have been complimented by you for taking the time to do so.

The editor's note in reply was not a fair answer and has a tinge of political bias—the Nixon technique in print. I will agree with you and say that I am also pleased with the growth and maturity of Nixon and hope the people of this nation give credit where due and send him back to California in 1960 to grow to full maturity.

Atlantan Says Nehru Disfavors Capitalism

Atlanta—No matter how many Communists the Indian leader Nehru expells or how much opposed he is to the idea of communism I do not believe he will ever agree to the methods of operation which may be found in the adopting of capitalism. Some elements in the United States have had the tendency during the past 10 years to adopt corporate state methods in the handling of affairs relating to connections between government and business. In fact, some social scientists have said we are on the road to fascism.

We need more democracy, not fascism or communism. Nehru has warned cold war protagonists on both sides that they have been doing wrong in developing excessive systems of armaments. I agree with Nehru in condemning both fascism and communism.

'Spending Before You Get It Is Modern Way'

Atlanta—Recently there was a protest meeting about a change in licenses to a modified sales tax. It was generally agreed by those protesting that the city really did need more money. They were objecting only to the manner of raising it.

Three days later the city announced the building of a million-dollar garden. Nothing was said about the $100,000 or so a year, which maintenance and operation would cost. When that is added to the interest charge and depreciation it becomes $150,000 a year or more.

It was hinted, however, that the removal of a glass house at another park would enable the further development of that, at an unsuggested cost.

But then spending it before you get it seems to be the modern way.

Look at the Past In Little Squares

We are going to get some system around my house. Or I will know the reason why. . . . What set me off again was failing to find a highly important document anywhere in the house, and I set out, of course, to deliver my "system" lecture.

And did not get far again, for wives for some reason do not seem to respond well to reasonable lectures while the kids are squalling for supper and the rice is boiling over.

In no time, Margery was boiling over with the rice and the only thing I could think of was to slam the kitchen door and fume out into the garage to go through the boxes of pictures and junk we are going to sort out as soon as we have time.

A pan clanged angrily in the kitchen. Certain Irish types are deaf to logic, I thought, throwing open the box and diving in furiously.

A thousand snapshots; the past in little squares. Only the wedding pictures are packed in neat.

People you have already forgotten and people you will never forget.

Letters. Letters of all sorts.

A twist inside as you realize a face looking from a snapshot is a friend you will never see again . . . dead.

And a hardly less cruel twist as you look at yourself arm-in-arm with friends you may never see or really know again because of the smaller deaths of geography and time. . . .

These are the things we'll sort out when we have time.

A short-snorter bill; occupation money. Put it in your pocket. Little boys like things from old wars.

Picture of a girl glider pilot who once soared in sailplanes and now is in the kitchen mopping up rice.

"Did you find what you were looking for," she said, with that little sarcastic inflection, "oh, neat one?"

I had forgotten what highly important document I was looking for.

So I blustered, "All that stuff is going to mildew and this time I really mean it, we're going to get it all sorted out just . . ."

". . . as soon as we have time," she said. "Pour the coffee, will you?"

Never having time is the best blessing of all.

Memories don't care if they're neat.

You Must Know Where To Drill

At a roadside restaurant in the suburbs of Griffin, the waitress raised neither fuss, question nor eyebrow when I asked for hot syrup. Which reminded me that Walter McKee, genial executive of the Georgia Oil Jobbers Assn., had sent in a note concerning the hole in the doughnut. Incidentally, oil celebrated its 100th birthday this week.

Men had known about oil for ages—lamps trimmed and burning, etc. But it took a Pennsylvanian named Ed Drake to show how the stuff could be brought from underground in sufficient quantity for a change every 1,000 miles.

Driller Drake hired a blacksmith named "Uncle Billy" Smith to boss the boring of a well near Titusville, Pa. "Uncle Billy" shut down the works on Saturday night, Aug. 26, 1859, so the Sabbath might be kept holy.

The blacksmith-driller went to church, we will assume. He had Sunday dinner. Getting up from the table, he said to his 16-year-old son, Samuel, "Sammy, let's go see how the well is getting along." So at a time when many church members call on shut-ins, this one went to see the well.

"Uncle Billy" peered into the hole in the ground and saw at the bottom a shiny dark fluid. He said, "Sammy, we've struck it. Oil! Go tell the people."

The closest place to tell it was at a nearby sawmill.

Only a decade before, at John Sutter's sawmill on a river in California, the magic word had been "Gold!"

If you want to get in the chips, go prospecting close to a sawmill.

Then there was the Houston dentist who told the patient, "You don't have an unsound tooth in your head."

And the patient said, "I feel lucky this morning. Drill anyway."

OPEN QUESTION: But getting from Titusville oil back to the cruller, the clipping Walter McK. sent me says the controversy is between Maine and Massachusetts.

A century ago Camden, Maine, put up a monument to Hanson Crockett as the man who designed fried dough with a hole in the middle. No kin, Hanson, to the Crockett who put bullet holes in bears.

Cape Cod says the Camden claim is much ado about nothing.

On the Cape the story is that an Indian taking up archery shot an arrow in the air. It did not fall, as did Longfellow's, into the heart of an oak. That stray arrow went through the center of a fried cake which a Pilgrim woman had hung up to cool.

The Camden-Cape Cod debate was heard by Franklin P. Adams, Clifton Fadiman and Elsa Maxwell. They rendered no decision.

Which creates a perfect opening for a Southern claim.

Summer Months Were Rewarding

This has been the best summer for me that I have known in a long time. I hate to see it coming to a close. Usually I look forward to the changing seasons but if I could, I would keep this summer running on for another three months.

Probably the main reason I have liked this summer so is because the attendance at my church has been the largest of any summer during the 12 years I have been in Atlanta. Why this summer has been better, I do not know. I did about the same things as I did last summer but more people came.

Another reason why this has been a good summer is I had an easier schedule. I had fewer outside engagements and more time at home. I work better when I am not pushed and I enjoy being with my family. Not being so busy, I got caught up on some work I had been putting off and that made me feel more relaxed.

A number of years ago I decided I wanted to write a book on the life of Christ. Many such books have been written but I wanted to write one, too. But from year to year I have put it off, feeling I did not have time. Having more free time this summer, I actually got to work on that book and now have it about half finished.

What outside engagements I have had have turned out well and have been happy. I enjoyed preaching in the camp meetings and more people came to both Mt. Gilead and Salem than I have ever seen at either place before. I began the summer with a week's preaching in Texas which turned out to be one of the highlights of my ministry. And this last week of the summer I am speaking at the great Bible Conference in Massanetta Springs, Va., which is one of the greatest preaching places in America.

I feel like getting on my knees and thanking God for giving me this good summer. In fact, I have already done that several times and will again. God is good to all of us. We all receive more than we deserve.

And the fall promises to be a good season. The Jerome Hines Opera on the life of Christ, "I Am The Way," will be here soon. I already have my tickets for that. Football at Georgia Tech is on the way and that is a lot of fun. The trees will soon be turning and that is when Fairview road is most beautiful. I have some wonderful preaching opportunities this fall, beginning with a revival in New Orleans.

Isn't it wonderful to be alive! Just stop and think of all the good things the Lord has done and you will join me in singing praises to His name.

President Renews His Peace Crusade

WASHINGTON—Veteran Washington correspondents—not given to overstatement—assessed Dwight Eisenhower's 169th presidential press conference as a stirring moment of history. To one whose White House reportorial experience goes back to the crackling, opinion-laden meetings with FDR and the tense, explosive, yes-and-no hours with Harry S. Truman, this was one of the most moving and momentous press conferences of a quarter-century.

If there was any lingering doubt that Eisenhower is in decisive and full-fledged command of his awesome office — in foreign affairs, in domestic matters, in congressional relations — it was totally removed by this impressive performance.

But it did far more than that. It was moving and momentous:

Because it showed Eisenhower irrevocably intent upon using his "last atom of strength" — there appeared to be plenty of it — and his "last atom of prestige" to try to bring about a more peaceful world.

Because it revealed the President speaking with such depth of feeling and conviction that few, if any, of the 233 reporters had any doubt that in the bold peace moves he is now making, there is not a partisan or personal motive in his whole being.

Because it disclosed that the President's unabated determination is to find a way to reduce the crushing burden of armaments before they explode in Soviet hands and that, without yielding "ideals or principles" he will spare nothing of himself to bring it about.

When a correspondent asked whether Eisenhower thought that his trip to the Soviet Union might "erode the prestige of the President," it was obvious that this question stemmed from Truman's latest newspaper article in which he advised Eisenhower not to make the trip lest "it dissipate" presidential leadership.

Eisenhower's instant response was that while his personal prestige might or might not be eroded, the prestige of a future president would be eroded by nothing but his own actions.

Eisenhower thought that any president "who failed to use the last atom of prestige or the last atom of his energy" to try to ease world tensions and bring about some disarmament "ought to be condemned by the American people."

The reason there is no doubt in the President's words is that there is no doubt in his mind and this stems from three factors: (1) the loss of Secretary of State Dulles; (2) the resignation of Sherman Adams; (3) the visible and continued improvement in his health.

All of these factors have contributed to making Eisenhower a full-length participant in the development of administration decisions. For months now he has had to be part of the staff which does the "staff work" on major policy decisions. He no longer comes in only at the end.

He did not want to lose Dulles. He didn't want to lose Adams. But my impression is that he thoroughly likes the kind of harder work he now has to do.

For the first time Eisenhower seems to enjoy being president.

Governor's Job Is Constant Headache

All this uproar about the Lavonia superhighway and the hue and cry concerning reorganization of the government indicate there is no vacation from the perils of being governor, even when the mercury sits steaming in the mid-nineties. And on top of everything else Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler keeps on gabbing about putting the boot to Dixie.

The governor, of course, has to tell him one more time to keep his mouth shut.

I've never been governor of anything, but it takes no Mt. Palomar telescope to see that being governor is a worrisome job.

Take this interstate highway heading toward South Carolina. For some months now the end of it has been sitting outside Suwannee grassed-over and waiting to see where it is going. (Stopping a highway when one doesn't know exactly where it is going seems to be the height of prudence.)

Anyway, this highway once was scheduled to go near Gainesville, but now it is going to take another route known as the "middle route," which will put it in the vicinity of Lavonia—the governor's hometown — and on to South Carolina. Now comes the Stephens County-Toccoa Chamber of Commerce declaring the road was diverted southward because of personal reasons in the administration. The governor says that's not so and, besides, the lower route will save over $9,000,000.

Some people in part of South Carolina are yelling their state agreed to meet the Georgia end of the superhighway at a spot removed from where these upset people in South Carolina thought the roads were going to meet. Woe, woe, woe.

The only answer seems to be to put a perimeter highway around each state, and then sort of feed into it at whatever points the chambers of commerce desire.

This road business is example enough of matters worrying a governor, but there are bound to be countless little things coming up during a day. The grass may need cutting at the mansion or a faucet begins to leak.

And people are always coming around to see a governor. A delegation from a county comes in to report there is a wide crack in the state highway three miles south of town and what is he going to do about it. Another bunch comes in to swear that this person who is scheduled to be executed is as pure as the driven snow and that the sentence is one hell of a mistake and would the governor please let their client off.

In addition to people who come from outside to seek assistance, there is a steady demand on a governor from within the government itself. Head of the schools comes over and says he needs another $10,000,000 or they'll have to hire 10th-grade graduates as teachers. A mental health delegation drops by to say something has got to be done (about mental health).

Every four years, believe it or not, there are people who want to be governor.

Wesley Forms Mission To Work With Needy

By BETSY LOCHRIDGE

Norman Kimsey, a young student pastor at Wesley Memorial Church, was distributing church bulletins in a city housing development when a 6-year-old asked him wistfully, "What do you do in church?"

The question gave rise to a door-to-door survey of the neighborhood. The results?

Kimsey discovered that only one child out of six went to Sunday school or church.

Only one child out of five could say any version of "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep."

Only one child out of six could say grace.

Of youngsters aged 16 and over, only one out of 17 went to church or Sunday school.

The facts were shocking to pastor Allen E. Phillips and his associates at Wesley Memorial, a church whose ministry to downtown Atlanta has been notable for its compassionate service to the city's jobless, its alcoholics and its poor.

They were also shocking to four laymen—three of them members of other churches. Their names: Charles S. Martin, Judge Eugene Gunby, Jack M. McTeer and Dr. Sam A. Wilkins Jr., associate director of Emory University's Winship Clinic.

Meeting this week, they organized the Atlanta Missionary Division of Wesley Memorial Church and outlined a program to expand the church's work with the juvenile delinquents, alcoholics, the aged poor and the jobless. Also, they plan to enlarge and intensify the church's youth program and launch full scale revivals in the city's housing projects and blighted areas.

This work, which they believe will drastically reduce the city's crime rate, its juvenile delinquency and its alcoholic offenses, would call for six student pastors who would live and work at the church as interns under the supervision of The Rev. Allen E. Phillips, Wesley Memorial's pastor.

The Atlanta Missionary Division hopes to raise over $26,000. Contributions will be sought on a non-sectarian basis from Atlanta churches of every denomination and will be used exclusively for missionary work, according to McTeer.

"Let's face it, Atlanta has a bowery," he says. "Are we going to keep on putting them in jail or are we going to try to put them in church?"

'Reading the Bible Aloud'

The Bible was originally intended to be read aloud, points out Dr. J. Edward Lantz, author of "Reading the Bible Aloud," due for publication Sept. 29 by The Macmillan Co.

Dr. Lantz

He cites the fact that the Psalms were chanted by the people as they went to and from Jerusalem to worship; the Old Testament was read aloud by the priests and the letters of Paul were read aloud to the congregations of Corinth.

This is why the Bible can best be understood when read aloud, says Dr. Lantz.

But too many preachers and laymen read ineffectively because "they don't understand what they're reading, they read word by word instead of idea by idea; they read too slowly or they read in a ministerial or holy tone."

A companion volume to "Speaking In the Church," Dr. Lantz's book contains sections on understanding the Bible, the four basic factors of reading, preparation for reading and special types of religious readings.

Executive director of the Southern office of the National Council of Churches, Dr. Lantz has also edited three anthologies of religious short stories and he and his wife are coauthors of "Bible Characters In Action" and "Plays for Happier Homes." published by Walter H. Baker Co.

REVIVAL CROWDS AT COUNTY LINE BAPTIST CHURCH

" . . . It's the Lord Working," the Rev. J. H. Lawson Says

1,500 Join Revival At Church of 185

The little congregation of County Line Baptist Church prayed last week for a great revival.

It hardly seemed possible.

The church is a small white frame building on a lonely dirt road in the shadow of Stone Mountain. The congregation numbers 185.

But last Sunday an estimated 1,500 people showed up for Homecoming and dinner-on-the-grounds. And they've been coming back all week for revival services.

The sanctuary, a starkly white and simple room with a wooden pulpit, has been filled to overflowing every night. The crowds spill out into the churchyard and surround the ancient well beneath the trees. Even more are expected as the revival reaches its peak this weekend.

"There's never been anything like it in the history of this church," says the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Lawson. And the church is 72 years old.

To what does he attribute it?

"Why, it's the Lord working," he says.

And Evangelist C. E. Maddox cites "the sweet spirit moving here."

The little church is drawing visitors from Scottdale, Stone Mountain and many parts of Atlanta. County Line Baptists, giving them a warm welcome, called the revival crowds "a miracle of the Lord."

"We're all so full of joy," said one, "there are no words to tell it!"

United Body Drawing Up Constitution

Special to The Constitution

NEW YORK—Some 8,000 local churches throughout the nation will have an opportunity during the next three months to help shape the constitution for the United Church of Christ.

Copies of the proposed constitution were sent this week to every Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Church in the country.

When the United Church of Christ was formed two years ago by a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church with the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, a 30-member commission was elected to draft a final constitution for the body.

15 Going To SMU Meeting

Six ministers, five laymen, two district superintendents, and two women from north Georgia are delegates to a Methodist conference on human relations meet Monday through Friday at Dallas, Texas.

The conference, which is expected to attract 1,200 delegates, will be held on the campus of Southern Methodist University. Eight general agencies of the Methodist Church are cooperating in sponsoring it.

Speaking as coordinator of the agencies, the Rev. Dr. A. Dudley Ward of Chicago said one of the purposes of the conference is "to give witness to the church in the world that it is the Christian gospel which will provide the focal point about which the things which divide people can be reconciled."

He said the conference, after research, study and discussion, is expected to work out a message to the church, "which will convey some of the atmosphere of the conference and will point to some objectives for the future."

The north Georgia delegation will include Dr. Earl Strickland of Augusta and Dr. Delma Hagood of Oxford, district superintendents; Mrs. Arthur Styron of Atlanta and Mrs. Clayton Calhoun, of Augusta; Dr. Frank Moorhead, Rev. Louie Huckaby, Rev. Y. A. Oliver; Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick and Dr. Charles Allen, all of Atlanta, ministers; Paul Schumacher, Thomaston; Dr. Virgil Eady, Oxford; D. W. Brooks and Henry Bowden, Atlanta, and James Mackay, Decatur, laymen.

Ambassador Romulo from the Philippines, Bishop Richard C. Raines of the Indiana Area, and the Rev. Dr. Akbar Abdul Haqq, an Indian educator who has served on the Billy Graham team, are among the principal speakers for the conference.

Baptist Homecoming

Homecoming services will be held Sunday at West Manor Baptist Church, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Harold D. Zwald. Morning worship services will be followed by dinner-on-the-grounds.

BRIARLAKE PASTOR—The Rev. J. Hoffman Harris this week assumed the pastorate of Briarlake Baptist Church in Decatur. Formerly the pastor of Patee Park Baptist Church, St. Joseph, Mo., the Rev. Mr. Harris is a native of Augusta and a graduate of Baylor University, Waco, Tex., and the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

U.S. to Greet Khrushchev With Prayer

Special to The Constitution

WASHINGTON—Adm. Ben Moreel, retired board chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., has called for an interdenominational, nationwide day of prayer on Sept. 15 to coincide with the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the United States.

Moreel has also urged that cities on Khrushchev's itinerary arrange special church services on the day of his visit.

Leading clergymen who have endorsed Moreel's idea include evangelist Billy Graham, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the U.S. Senate, and Dr. George L. Ford, executive director of the National Assn. of Evangelicals.

Moreel, an Episcopalian layman and wartime organizer of the Seabees, made public his proposal after meeting representatives of a number of national patriotic organizations.

"There was a general consensus," he said, "that while we should refrain from any demonstrations of hostility, it would be right and proper that Mr. Khrushchev's arrival in this country should be set aside as a day of prayer in all the churches of the land."

Moreel said it was generally agreed that "since we are a people whose trust is in God and whose social structure has its roots founded deeply in our religious beliefs, the moral implications of the visit far outweigh all the others."

Atlanta Novice Receives Habit

Miss Elizabeth Conroy, who entered Our Lady of Maryknoll Novitiate, Valley Park, Mo., last December, has received the habit and the religious name of Sister M. Elizabeth Cherese.

A native of Atlanta, Miss Conroy is a graduate of Purdue University and Johns Hopkins University school of hygiene.

Reception to Honor Departing Riegels

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert G. Riegel will be honored at a reception at 4 p.m. Sunday at St. Luke's Church.

An assistant pastor at St. Luke's, the Rev. Mr. Riegel recently accepted a call to become rector of St. James' Church, Greenville, S.C. He will assume his duties there in September.

8 Laymen Named to Fund Unit

Eight laymen representing seven denominations have been appointed to the finance committee of the Atlanta Christian Council.

Roy D. Warren, chairman of the committee, and Gordon Heath have been named to represent the Presbyterian churches. The Baptists are represented by Judson Garner; the Methodists by Jack Tulley; the Lutheran churches by Erwin Baumer; the Episcopal churches by L. F. Montgomery; the Christian churches by D. J. Brodmann and the Congregational churches by Robert Chisolm.

Christ Is Truly the Son of God

QUESTION: I simply cannot believe Jesus was God. I believe He was a very good man, and I try to live like Him.—T. P. O.

ANSWER: If you are unwilling to believe Jesus Christ is the Son of God you are in a very dangerous position, for faith in the deity of Christ is the very heart of the way of salvation. Only God can redeem us from our sins, and it is to God that we must look for salvation. In saying that you try to live like Christ you obviously do not know what you are saying.

Can you live the sinless life that Christ lived? It is our sins which have separated us and God, and it was to cleanse and forgive these sins that Christ came into the world. In forming an opinion about Christ, let me urge you to read the Bible and there see what God tells us about Him. Take the Gospel of John, for instance, and read and reread it, and you will see how God sent His Son into the world to solve man's dilemma—a dilemma which is the result of sin in our hearts. When we try to be good, we never rise higher than ourselves. The Bible tells us that the very best a man can do is as filthy rags in God's sight. God is holy and pure and our only chance of coming into His presence is to become holy and pure, and we become just that when we accept Christ as our Savior.

Methodists Will Stress Evangelism

Special to The Constitution

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A special emphasis on evangelism in the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church will begin Sept. 1 and continue until Dec. 6.

The program is being promoted in connection with the Methodist Church's "Year of Total Enlistment," and its theme is "Total Enlistment for Christ."

The goals are to enlist all Methodist church members in some form of Christian activity, to enlist new persons for Christ and the church and the enlistment of all Methodists to a "total dedication of self, including talents, time and resources, and a full commitment to Christian living in all the relationships of life."

The program is being sponsored by the committee on evangelism of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council of the Methodist Church, in cooperation with the Methodist General Board of Evangelism and the boards of evangelism of the 16 Methodist annual conferences in the nine states of the jurisdiction.

The Rev. Dr. D. Trigg James, Atlanta, is the executive secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council assigned to work with the jurisdictional committee on evangelism.

Baptists Planning Sendoff for Collegians

Baptist churches throughout George will observe Off-to-College Day Sunday, according to an announcement by the Rev. Aubrey L. Hawkins, Georgia Baptist Convention student work department secretary.

Off-to-College Day is observed so churches may "formalize their interest, love and concern for young people," the Rev. Mr. Hawkins declared. Many churches will have students conducting, or otherwise participating in the special programs.

Hawkins noted that approximately 23,500 Baptist students will be enrolled in Georgia's 47 colleges and universities for the 1959-1960 term. These 23,500 students will represent approximately half of the total enrollment in Georgia institutions of higher learning.

Off-to-College Day serves to help college students continue their church affiliations.

Hussong To Present Organ Concert

James Hussong, organist at Mary Branan Methodist Church, will give an organ concert at the church at 8 p.m. Sunday. Assisting Mr. Hussong will be Miss Norma Mullings, pianist, and Mrs. Jim Wood, vocalist.

Brooks Hays Named U.N. Observer

Special to The Constitution

RIDGECREST, N.C.—Brooks Hays, immediate past president of the Southern Baptist Convention and a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has been elected the convention's first permanent observer to United Nations.

Hays was elected at a meeting of the Convention's Christian Life commission at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly here.

Commission leaders said Hays will assist in a two-way interpretation, furnishing U.N. leaders with Southern Baptists' ideas on world peace and providing Southern Baptists with reports and observations on U.N. activities.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

FAITH ONLY is mentioned in the Bible BUT ONCE!

You ARE saved by faith . . . this is true because the Bible says so:

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16) "To Him give all the prophets witness, that through His name whosoever believeth in Him shall receive remission of sins." (Acts 10:43) "But without faith it is impossible to please Him: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." (Hebrews 11:6)

But you ARE NOT saved by faith only . . . this is true because the Bible says so:

"Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only." (James 2:24)
ALSO: Luke 6:46; John 12:42, 43; Acts 2:38. Read the Bible for yourself!

Building Foreman Killed on Peachtree

All were discharged after emergency treatment.

Several workers said they thought the second collapse was caused partly by the crush of scores of workers brushing against the scaffolding as they sought to remove those injured in the first cave-in.

One of the injured, Grady Benson, 29, said he rushed into the wreckage of the first cave-in and started removing "pans," the metal sections in which concrete is poured to form the floor. At first, he said, it was feared that other workers were buried in the debris.

Benson said that as he worked, another section of the flooring gave way. He was pinned beneath the wreckage, he said, but crawled out unassisted. He suffered an injured arm and ankle.

James W. Pritchett, 21, said he escaped injury in the first cave-in, but was hurt when he went in to help pull another worker out and was caught in the second crash.

BACK INJURED

"I was scared when the first crash came," Pritchett said, "but the three fellows were hollering and I went to help them." Pritchett suffered injuries on his back and one hand.

About 50 firemen joined more than 100 construction workers cleaning out the debris in search for Crawford. The contractor, Henry C. Beck Construction Co., had taken a count and Crawford was the only worker unaccounted for.

Three wreckers and a crane were used to pull large sections of metal scaffolding from the area. Workers shoveled out the wet concrete and removed it in wheelbarrows.

A spokesman for the construction company pointed out that no section of the building itself had collapsed.

"The shorings (or scaffoldings), the temporary formwork for the construction, which gave way had absolutely nothing to do with the permanent structure of the building," he said.

The spokesman said "concrete in its liquid form is extremely heavy and the weight of the concrete caused the formwork to collapse."

Georgia Power Co. will occupy the new structure under a 50-year lease with the owners, Joe B. Hutchinson of Atlanta and Henry C. Beck Jr. of Dallas, Texas.

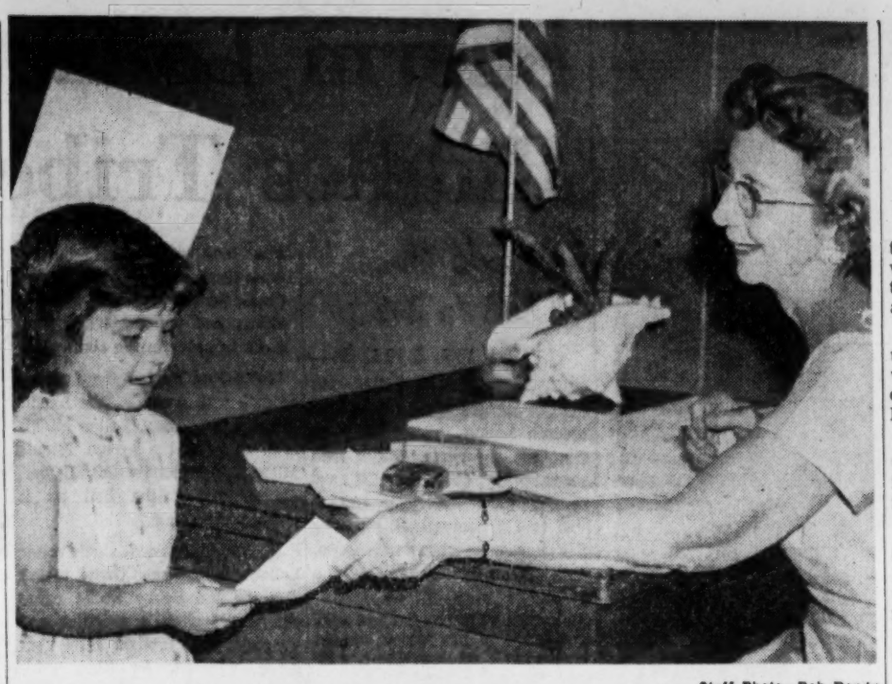

INJURED LISTED

Most of the injured suffered cuts and bruises.

Grady records showed the following injuries to white workers: Wylie Lewis Barlow Jr., 31, Marlow, iron worker, abrasions; Donald Andrew Wigley, 29, 544 Elmwood St., SW, cement finisher, injured right foot and left elbow; Reuben N. Brogdon, 26, Rt. 1, Buford, bruised left thigh, abrasions on fingers, left hand and left side of chest; Fred Lewis Curtis, 31, 852 Ponce de Leon Pl., NE, laborer, injured on both knees, left eye and back; James W. Pritchett, 21, carpenter's helper, Rt. 3, Carnesville, injured hand and back; Nathan K. Camp, 39, Winston, carpenter, lower back; James Garnell Smith, 31, Pine Lake, steelworker, injured on left elbow, right upper back and right hip; Grady Lee Benson, 29, Rt. 1, Dallas, laborer, abrasions to back, right arm and ankle.

Negro workers injured were:

la Rica construction worker set about washing helmets of the injured men.

"Someone just handed me these helmets and told me to clean them up," A. J. Bailey said as he poured water on the already hardening cement coating the metal hats.

"Some of the men were from my hometown and I knew all of them. So I'm doing some thinking as I'm washing these.

"I was just a few feet away when I heard someone holler. I ran to see and the cement had fallen to the bottom. I climbed down the scaffolding to help dig them out."

One worker, who had twisted his ankle last week on the job, said his crutches had possibly spared him.

"If it hadn't been for this crutch, I'd have been down there, too," he said, nodding toward the twisted wreckage.

Another worker was standing about 20 feet from the first cave-in location.

"I heard a jack buckle and I ran," said Clyde Shuler. "It was only five or 10 seconds before it hit. I went back to help and was under it when the second one fell. I ran again. And everyone else who had a chance did, too."

He escaped unhurt.

A worker in the basement of the building when the first fall came rushed up the ramp to help get the trapped men out.

"There was no sound till the building fell," said O. L. Shepherd. "There weren't but a few men down there when the first cave-in fell. But then we all rushed down to help. And nobody knows how many got caught."

The workmen stood quietly, watching the search.

Nobody No Happier, Says Rosa Lee Ingram

Ingram said philosophically. "But I reckon it just wasn't the time."

Wearing a cotton print housedress and her gray hair drawn into tight little braids, the mother of ten children smiled often but laughed seldom and asked to be relieved of questions about the slaying which brought people all over the country, including some Communists and NAACP leaders, to her defense.

"I don't like to dwell on that," she said. "It gets me all flustrated."

Victim of the slaying was John Stratford, a white tenant farmer, who, according to the Ingrams, "come at" Rosa at the height of a dispute over their mule getting into his corn field.

"Wasn't none of our mule in his corn," Mrs. Ingram murmured Friday.

She added that she had nothing to do with Straford's death and that the younger of the two boys, Sammy, wasn't present at the time. Wallace, she said, struck Stratford in defense of her. She said she never saw any Communists "to know them" and didn't see any of the money collected in her behalf. Approximately $45,000 was raised by the Negro newspaper, The Atlanta Daily World, for her defense and to buy the home in Leslie, Ga., where her other eight children moved after the trial, W. A. Scott, the publisher, said. He said other sums were raised throughout the country but he did not know how it was spent.

Mrs. Ingram said her first concern would be to see all her children and to get them near her "so I won't be worried about them." The other eight have been in the care of her married daughter, Geneva Rushing, 35, in Leslie.

Mrs. Ingram was released Friday from the Colony prison camp at Milledgeville, where she worked as a housekeeper in the State Hospital, and for a year labored in the cannery. She had a perfect prison record and her sons, confined at Mitchell County work camp in Camilla, were described by the warden as "excellent prisoners and cooperative in every respect."

The Ingrams were offered jobs in the North if and when they were released but Yates said the parole board asked him Wednesday if he couldn't find them jobs in Georgia.

"I told the board there wouldn't be any trouble about that," the drug store executive said. "We have them all fixed to go to work right away."

"We want to try to make the state good citizens," Wallace said shyly, speaking up for the first time.

and teachers at their schools for one week "getting ready."

"That's the earliest we've ever had them report," Miss Jarrell said.

Ready or not, the youngsters came. From frying' size kindergarten entries, awed and apprehensive, to "old hat" seniors wearing nonchalant faces, they poured into city schools.

"We won't have an enrollment count before Monday," said Miss Jarrell, "but more came for the first day than were expected."

The halls of nine Atlanta schools echoed to the students' march for the first time. Two of the new schools—East Atlanta High and Peterson Elementary — are right across the street from each other in the 1800 block of Mary Dell drive, SE.

At East Atlanta, 469 high schoolers showed up eager to inspect their new alma mater. Most of East Atlanta's upper classmen are transfers from Murphy and Smith high schools.

India Masses Troops At Red China Border

viously patrolled only by a semi-military organization called the Assam Rifles. Reinforcements will be dispatched as needed.

A thousand miles to the northwest, the Red Chinese presumably are holding Indian territory in the Ladakh section of Kashmir that they first penetrated in October 1957.

CHINESE AREAS

Both incursions were in areas that, regardless of New Delhi protests, Chinese maps have long shown as Chinese. Peiping, for instance, claims about half of the northeast frontier agency which India separated from Assam a few years ago for administrative reasons.

While declaring India's intention to defend itself, Nehru said "We should not become alarmists or panicky, or take any wrong actions."

The armed forces of India, whose policy of nonalignment has made it a leader of the Asian neutralist bloc, are no match for the three-million-man army of Red China.

SPURNED ALLIANCES

Indian officials decline to say how many men they have in uniform, considering it a military secret. But defense budgets give a clue to the relative standing of the two Asian giants who have drifted apart after a 10-year honeymoon.

With manpower cheap and plentiful, Red China openly earmarks about two billion dollars a year for defense. India spends about 600 million dollars. And India's chief military watch has centered not on the north but on its borders with Pakistan, a rival claimant to Kashmir. Nehru has spurned military alliances.

The Chinese were reported to have flowed across the border in the Kameng sector at a place called Longju, so tiny that it is not even shown on most Indian government maps. It is a mile or so from the border.

ta Boulevard and he was following about 150 feet behind Busby. Oliver said he was in the left traffic lane and Busby in the right lane.

"Something hit me," he was quoted. "I didn't see it hit Busby."

Wallace was quoted that the two motorcycles had stopped "and I had to hit them or something else."

After striking the motorcycle, his car went out of control, he said, and he was unable to stop.

In the distance traveled after he struck the first motorcycle, Wallace swung to the shoulder of the road and back into the traffic lane, police said.

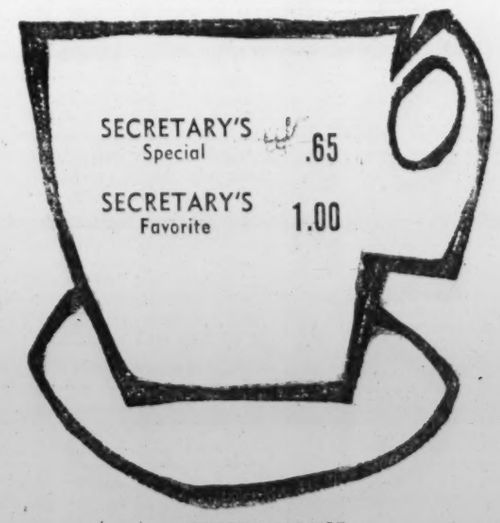

Oliver's motorcycle was knocked from the road and he landed near the center strip of the four-lane road.

Officers said Cooper, asked at the scene what happened, replied: "I'd rather not discuss it."

Queen said Wallace told him his driver's license had been revoked.

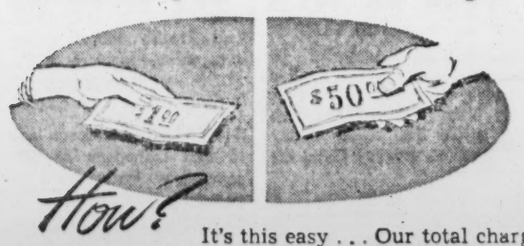

Queen said that, besides the suspicion of murder charge Wallace would face charges of driving approximately 100 in a 50-mile zone, drunk driving, and other charges while Cooper would be held as a material witness.

Ike's Veto of $1 Billion in Works Chills Hope for Early Adjourning

tle doubt but that the Senate would override the Chief Executive's veto of the public works appropriations bill.

In addition to its provision for unbudgeted projects, the bill also would provide for over-all projects $30 million more than the President requested.

"It ignores the necessity for an orderly development of America's water resources within the nation's fiscal ability," he said.

The bulk of the money—$1,206,000,000—would have gone to the Army Engineers and Reclamation Bureau to plan, build and maintain flood control, navigation, power, beach erosion and reclamation projects.

Sen. Russell said he thought the Senate might have a chance to reconsider the bill and that it would override the veto if given a chance. He said he wouldn't be surprised if the session ran until October.

The House will have to act first on the veto since the appropriations bill originated there. The House is less likely to override the President than is the Senate.

All senators have a sort of vested interest in the bill since each state would get funds from it. But not all House members have pet river and harbor projects in their districts.

Rep. Paul Brown of Elberton, Ga., said however, that he does not believe the House will override the President.

But the Georgia representative predicted Congress will bring the bill back and pass it in a form more suitable to the President.

"I think the President vetoed the bill because it contained several new projects put in by the Senate. If the Senate had adopted the bill as it passed the House, I don't think he would have vetoed it."

Largest single item in the bill for a Georgia project is $26,400,000 for the Hartwell Reservoir on the Savannah River. Next largest is $14,900,000 for the Walter F. George lock and dam on the Chattahoochee at Fort Gaines.

Other funds for Georgia include $1,150,000 for the Brunswick harbor; $1,000,000 for the Columbia lock and dam on the Chattahoochee, and $950,000 for the Savannah River navigation channel below Augusta.

There are similar projects for every state in the Union.

The President made clear the main reason for his veto was the bill's impact on future budgets, not for the current one. He said public works outlays this fiscal year will be at the record level of $1,100,000,000, almost 75 per cent higher than five years ago.

The main reason for the steep increase, with still higher totals inevitable in the next two years, was that Congress in the past four years has added more than 200 starts not included in the budget, the President said.

It will take at least one day next week for the House, and then possibly the Senate, to act on the Eisenhower veto.

Quick action on the veto isn't likely to speed up adjournment to the extent lawmakers have hoped. The deadlock on labor reform will drag on into next week. Congress had hoped the conferees would be done with that Friday.

Also caught in the legislative log jam is a highway bill that most lawmakers want to see passed before adjournment. The debate over foreign aid appropriations and civil rights legislation is also at an impasse in the Senate.

The prospect for a longer session enhances the probability that the Senate will pass some sort of civil rights bill, although the House probably will not.

Landrum Rips Kennedy, Holds Out for Stiff Bill

WASHINGTON—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) and advocates of a milder labor reform bill than the House-approved Landrum-Griffin measure are finding out how stubborn a Georgia mountaineer can be.

That mountaineer is Rep. Phil Landrum of Jasper, co-author of the bill the House passed earlier this month with the backing of President Eisenhower and an avalanche of letters and telegrams from home.

Landrum and his House colleagues on the deadlocked Senate-House conference committee have refused to back down on the key issues of "blackmail" picketing, secondary boycotts and "no man's land."

Obviously they don't intend to, either. This was clear when the conferees broke up their meeting Friday without agreement.

Landrum listens intently and watches Kennedy like a mountain hawk whenever the Massachusetts senator and presidential aspirant briefs newsmen after each session of the conference committee.

His Blue Ridge dander was aroused Friday when Kennedy told reporters that at least two members of the House group, Rep. Thompson (D—NJ) and Perkins (D—Ky), were conscientiously seeking to bring out a compromise bill.

(Thompson and Perkins voted for milder legislation in the House and are on Kennedy's side.)

Kennedy, in his comment, pointedly omitted Landrum and the four other conferees who are holding out for a strict bill.

Landrum, his eyes flashing, promptly told Kennedy and the newsmen he resented the implication that he and his colleagues were not also conscientiously trying to bring out a good bill.

"I would not be so unfair," the Georgian said, "as to suggest or name an individual who has not sought to the best of his ability to get a bill out. The 14 conferees have conferred openly, forcefully and diligently, and each one has done his best to bring out a bill.

"I resent such an implication that some of us have not. There are very strong differences of policy, but I am sure you are just as sincere and as anxious as I am to get out a good bill."

eral times to open the door so I told the men to kick it down."

The 12-year-old daughter, who was in the room, began screaming. Officers said the elder Johnson grabbed up a section of broken door facing and rushed at Martin. Elliott grabbed Johnson from behind just as he reached Martin.

However, Johnson seized Martin's necktie and pulled it so tight it had to be cut off with a knife and also bit Martin on the shoulder before being quieted, officers said.

In the room where the daughter had sought refuge officers said they found the lottery company records for several days.

Johnson apologized profusely for attacking Martin, Cox said.

"I've been arrested before," he was quoted. "But not around my family. I guess I just went wild. I hate jumping on that officer more than I do being caught."

NEW CHAMP GENE FULLMER CRASHES RIGHT OFF HEAD OF CARMEN BASILIO

This Is Second Round Belt, But Utah Slugger Made Another One Stick In Round 14

Sherm Lollar Blast Riddles Tribe, 7-3

Chisox Boost Lead to 2½

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sherm Lollar's three-run homer broke up a tie in the seventh inning Friday night as the Chicago White Sox ripped second-place Cleveland 7-3 and padded their American League lead to 2½ games in the opener of a four-game showdown series. The Indians had won eight in a row.

A crowd of 70,398—largest paid attendance in the major leagues this season—saw Buck Shaw, a 26-year-old right - hander who this year graduated from a reliever's role, start and go the distance for Chicago. He silenced the big Indians' bats on seven hits to post his 14th victory against four losses.

Lollar's homer off Jim Grant, who took over from starter Jack Harshman, broke a 3-3 tie. Grant, the losing pitcher, started strong and put the White Sox down in order in the sixth.

Nellie Fox started the four-run seventh with a single. Jim Landis also singled. Then, Lollar hit his 20th homer of the season. Minnie Minoso, Cleveland's left fielder, almost caught the ball as it cleared the fence.

A Ted Kluszewski single after Lollar's homer sent Grant to the showers and Bobby Locke came on. A wild pitch, a sacrifice and a ground ball brought Earl Torgeson, who ran for Kluszewski, home with the seventh White Sox tally.

Until Lollar's blast, the game was an evenly fought battle.

Chicago took the lead with two runs in the fourth on singles by Al Smith, Jim McAnany and Luis Aparicio.

Aparicio was picked off first after his single. He faked a run toward second base and Cleveland catcher Ed FitzGerald flipped a throw to first baseman Vic Power.

The Indians came back in their half on a two-run error by the Chicago shortstop. Tito Francona, on base as the result of a fielder's choice, went to third when Rocky Colavito bounced a double off third baseman Bubba Phillips' arm. Aparicio chased the ball into short left field, but threw wildly to second and both runners scored.

Kluszewski tricked Jim Baxes for the White Sox third run in the fifth. With the bases loaded and Kluszewski at first, Smith bounced a grounder to second base. Baxes, attempting a doubleplay, waited to tag Kluszewski coming down the base line. Kluszewski stopped, and Baxes was late with a throw to first as Fox scampered home from third.

The Indians came back in the bottom of the fifth when FitzGerald, who had walked, slid into home safely. He scored after singles by Vic Power and Minoso.

After the Indians' fifth-inning tally, Shaw buckled down and allowed only one hit, a single by George Strickland.

Fullmer Knocks Out Basilio in Round 14

Handlers Stop Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gene Fullmer, a battling backtracker from Utah, won the NBA world middleweight championship Friday night on a knockout over Carmen Basilio in the 14th round.

The fight was stopped early in the 14th by Basilio's seconds and brought a tremendous round of boos from the crowd of about 12,000 in the Cow Palace.

Fullmer had just landed a stunning right to the jaw when Angelo Dundee, Basilio's acting manager, yelled to referee Jack Downey to stop the fight.

Basilio protested and tried to keep on going, but was stopped by his seconds. The time was 39 seconds of the 14th.

Fullmer, a 7-5 underdog, was well ahead on points at the time, and the only way Basilio could have won would have been by a knockout.

Basilio was weaving on his feet, groggy, when Dundee leaped onto the ring apron, yelling:

"Referee, stop the fight!"

The bout, under California rules, was officially a knockout for Fullmer.

It was a bruising battle from the opening gong with Basilio forcing the pace and getting his face painted with lefts, rights and elbows for his trouble.

In nearly every round Basilio backed Fullmer into the ropes—or was decoyed there by Gene—and then Fullmer would come out swinging with lefts and rights that rocked Basilio's head.

Because he backtracked, a la Gene Tunney when he won the heavyweight crown from Jack Dempsey more than 30 years ago, Fullmer got nothing but boos when he left the ring.

However, it was part of the strategy planned by Fullmer and his manager, Marv Jenson.

They had three plans—and all of them worked.

Through the first eight rounds, Fullmer backtracked steadily and then reached out with a counter-punching left jab to keep the on-rushing Basilio off balance. Always, Fullmer's blows were to the head.

Then in the ninth round, Fullmer suddenly shifted his attack. He sank a left wrist-deep into Carmen's belly and the Syracuse, N.Y. fighter doubled up and covered his face and stomach with his arms. Fullmer couldn't get in to apply the finishing touches.

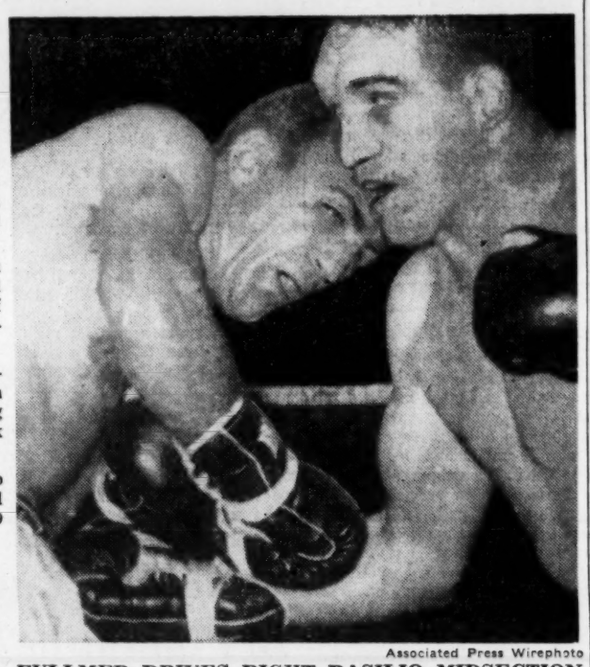

Fullmer switched from head to stomach and back to head again through the next three rounds. Then he became a headhunter.

In the 13th with Basilio—who weighed 156 to 159½ for Fullmer—obviously tiring, Gentleman Gene started leading. He jabbed Basilio all through the round, never rushing, never backing up.

In the 14th he came out like a tiger. He landed a crashing, straight right to Basilio's chin. The 32-year-old veteran wobbled, and Gene rushed in for the kill. He landed glancing rights and lefts to the head and when Carmen failed to put up his hands to defend himself, the seconds asked that the match be halted.

It was a furious battle. In the sixth the two men stood toe to toe and slugged for most of the three minutes with neither having the advantage.

Judge Jack Silver, for 13 rounds, had Fullmer ahead 125-121. Judge Fred Bottaro had it 129-121 and referee Jack Downey had it 128-119 both for Fullmer.

Carmen Attempts Coverup in Fourth Round of Title Scrap

Football's a Fever

One Saturday afternoon back in 1940 a University of Tennessee tailback named Johnny Butler reeled off a sensational 62-yard touchdown run against Alabama at Birmingham.

The Vols went on to sink the Crimson Tide, 27-12, that day.

Newsmen in the dressing room following the game hunted up the big Tennessee lineman who had thrown the key block sending Butler to touchdown glory on the play.

Carson

The young man was Ray Graves, Vols' center.

These were but moments of football stardom for both Butler and Graves. But that incident framed the thinking for a man's career.

Friday afternoon Ray Graves, Tech's assistant head coach, recalled it all.

"I decided that day in Birmingham that football was a sport I would always want to be associated with," Graves said. "And of even more importance—it was a team sport."

Twenty-eight years after this son of a Methodist minister cracked the line-up of a grammar school team back in Dayton, Tenn., Graves revels in this decision.

It has carried him to college and professional playing fields both as a coach and player.

—Thrills Are New, But Kickoff's the Same

The personal satisfaction he gained from success as a player fades some now in the light of new thrills—the thrills of seeing boys moulded into disciplined men, perhaps profiting some from the experience and teaching of their coach.

In a day of pressurized, win-or-else football, all too few college coaches take time to think these thoughts.

I asked Graves if he still gets the kick out of a kickoff.

"Every kickoff is like the first one to me," he replied. "And I'll never forget the first one on a clay field with a big hump in the middle up in Athens, Tenn. Every Saturday afternoon on Grant Field I get that same feeling."

Graves further explained this in terms he knew a hillbilly fisherman would understand. He knows what it means, too.

"Remember the first time you put a hook and worm in the water? Don't you get that same thrill when you throw a treble-hooked plug in the lake now?"

If age and Bernie Moore did not establish eligibility barriers, Ray Graves would suit up and play for Georgia Tech this fall.

"When I left college and went into pro ball," Graves began, "I would have paid them to let me play if I could have afforded it.

"People often ask me if pro players really love the game," Graves continued. "Well, they love it or they don't last but about one season up there."

Graves recalled a couple of the most satisfying experiences since he began playing football from the sidelines.

—Graves Cashed His Play on $27 Touchdown

The first occurred in 1947, shortly after he joined Bobby Dodd's staff.

"I'd become very fond of a peel-off pass play the pros were using. Sammy Baugh, Otto Graham and everybody was making it go. The quarterback peels off and flips to the halfback.

"I showed it to Coach Dodd and he didn't deny it wouldn't work occasionally, but I don't think he thought too much of it.

"He made a deal with me. We'd try the play and I'd give him a dollar for every yard we lost on it and he'd give me one for every yard we gained. The first time we used it George Mathews went 27 yards for a touchdown.

"I'll never forget Mathews crossing the goal line and Coach Dodd saying to me—'That deal's off.' "

Graves' other prize coaching experience was not of his own making. He watched Dodd concoct a sandlot pass play in the middle of a crucial game, then make a couple of Tech youngsters believe it would work.

"Those boys never dreamed the play could go haywire," Graves said. "But they scored the winning touchdown with it. It's the experience of working with a man who commands the confidence and respect of his boys that has been of tremendous satisfaction to me."

The University of Tennessee dressing room is famous for the football proverbs which abound its walls.

The one which occupied a prominent spot right over Ray Graves' locker back in the early 1940s says this:

"One good blocker is worth four good ball carriers."

Graves became a believer in that on an October afternoon in 1940. On the eve of another football season he's got the fever again.

Disputed Call Lifts Vols Over Crackers in Ninth, 5-4

Roberts 'Two-Time Loser,' Is Ejected After Rhubarb

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

As a usual thing, nine men can beat the Crackers handily. But Friday night the Nashville Vols required the utmost efforts of 12 players and an umpire with acute astigmatism to eke out a 5-4 victory.

It happened this way. With the score tied, 4-4, Cracker reliefer Jack Roberts walked ex-Cracker Ray Shearer to open the ninth inning. Then after Eddie Irons flied out, Buddy Gilbert bounced a ground ball past first base at least a foot foul. Matt Pappas, a rookie arbiter who is usually on the ball, astounded everyone including Gilbert by calling the shot fair.

Gilbert waltzed gleefully to first base, Shearer rumbled to third and the Crackers converged on Pappas for a mass protest meeting. Pappas ruled Roberts out of order, and out of the game.

Roberts, who had just re-joined the team after spending a few days on his new University of Georgia football coaching job, went. Jerry Nelson came. Buddy Carter lofted his second sacrifice fly to deep left. Shearer scored. The Crackers had lost their 25th of 41 one-run decisions. Roberts had lost at least $5, the automatic fine for getting the heave-ho.

The 582 noisiest ladies night fans (397 paid) in Southern Assn. history jeered Pappas and the Vols and cheered the Crackers as if they had been in first instead of last place.

Dale Hendrickson and the Jerry Lane, former Atlanta righthander, hooked up in a scatter-hit duel before Lane was derricked when the Crackers mounted a serious threat with two batters out in the seventh.

Chuck Coles' first-inning home run, his fifth, and second-inning singles by Bob Talbot and Hendrickson put Lane in arrears by 2-0. But he caught up in the fourth on two walks, an error, Carter's sacrifice hoist and Phil Shartzer's single.

Gilbert, who has lashed two of the three homers allowed in 113 innings by Hendrickson, belted his 21st for a 3-2 Vol lead in the sixth. And singles by Tom Dotterer, Shearer and Gilbert made it 4-2 next time around.

Atlanta closed in with a seventh-inning counter on Bob Jacobs' double and Al Federoff's single that kayoed Lane in favor of Steve Kraly. It was all square after eighth-frame singles by Talbot, Guy Morton and Roberts.

Kraly, benefitting by the "foul" finish, notched his ninth victory against three defeats. Roberts' record, now 2-6, shrank a bit like his bank account.

A pony will be given away to some lucky youngster after the second game of the series Saturday night. Claude Raymond (3-7) is earmarked to tangle with the Vols' Whammy Douglas (1-1) in the 7:45 wrangle.

MacKay Gains U.S. Tie in Davis Cup, 1-1

Aussie Fraser Upsets Olmedo

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Big Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, stole the thunder from his more illustrious teammate, Peruvian Alex Olmedo, Friday and hammered the United States into a split with Australia in the opening two singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round.

Under heavy pressure after Wimbledon champion Olmedo had gone down before Neale Fraser in the opener, the 6-4 Air Force private turned on an exhibition of sparkling, inspired tennis to cut down Rod Laver 7-5, 6-4, 6-1.

In a staggering upset which shook the favored American team, Fraser, his left-handed service coming off his racket like cannon shots, whipped an off-form Olmedo in a 2 hour, 19-minute duel 8-6, 6-8, 6-4, 8-6.

The crowd of 10,000, which sat almost boredly through the opening match, rose to its feet repeatedly to cheer MacKay's powerful performance.

Decision in this 16th straight challenge round meeting between the United States and Australia now must go to the final day, Sunday, when Olmedo plays Laver and MacKay meets Fraser in the final singles. Victory goes to the winner of three of the five matches.

Olmedo, the lend-lease Inca from Arequipa, was supposed to be the savior of the Davis Cup this year for Uncle Sam. But that honor Friday went to MacKay, a slashing reckless cannonballer who suddenly has found finesse.

The crew-cut Midwesterner — who will be 24 Monday and who will get out of the Air Force three days later—played with little caution against Laver but he hid the delicate shot when he needed it and his all-around court play was brilliant.

After struggling through the first two sets against the young left-hander who whipped him in a marathon semifinal at Wimbledon, MacKay turned loose his guns in the final set and had the shell-shocked Laver swinging at the air.

In one game of the third set—the fifth — MacKay served four doublefaults, yet pulled it out.

MacKay mixed doublefaults with service aces in about even doses. What made him the master was his ability to return Laver's service with low, rapier-like shots which forced the Australian into volleying errors.

Time and time again Laver came to the net behind high-kicking delivery to find MacKay's return zooming down at his feet.

Three straight times Laver missed these low volleys in the 12th game of the first set, losing it on the only service break. In the second set, MacKay lost his service in the fifth grame, double faulting twice and volleying badly, but he came back to rebreak in the seventh and again in the tenth.

The third set was sheer slaughter as MacKay cut loose with all his power and refused to play safe on a single shot.

Olmedo was just a shell Friday of the brilliant racket marksman who won the Cup almost single-handedly for his adopted United States last year and who went on to capture the Australian and Wimbledon championships.

The 23-year-old son of an Arequipa court caretaker never shone in a dull, error-filled battle played in sweltering heat before a crowd of 10,000 at the East Side Tennis Club.

Olmedo lacked spark and dash. When he shot for the lines, the ball drifted lazily wide or over the back line. When he went for tricky and dangerous angles, the ball plopped against the net cord and fell back.

Time after time his whip lash first service failed to find court and his returns sailed back lazily for errors or easy Fraser kills. Olmedo would shake his cew-cut head as if he couldn't understand the loss of his oldtime mastery.

To Fraser's credit, it must be said that he served brilliantly,

Alex, Buchholz Play Doubles

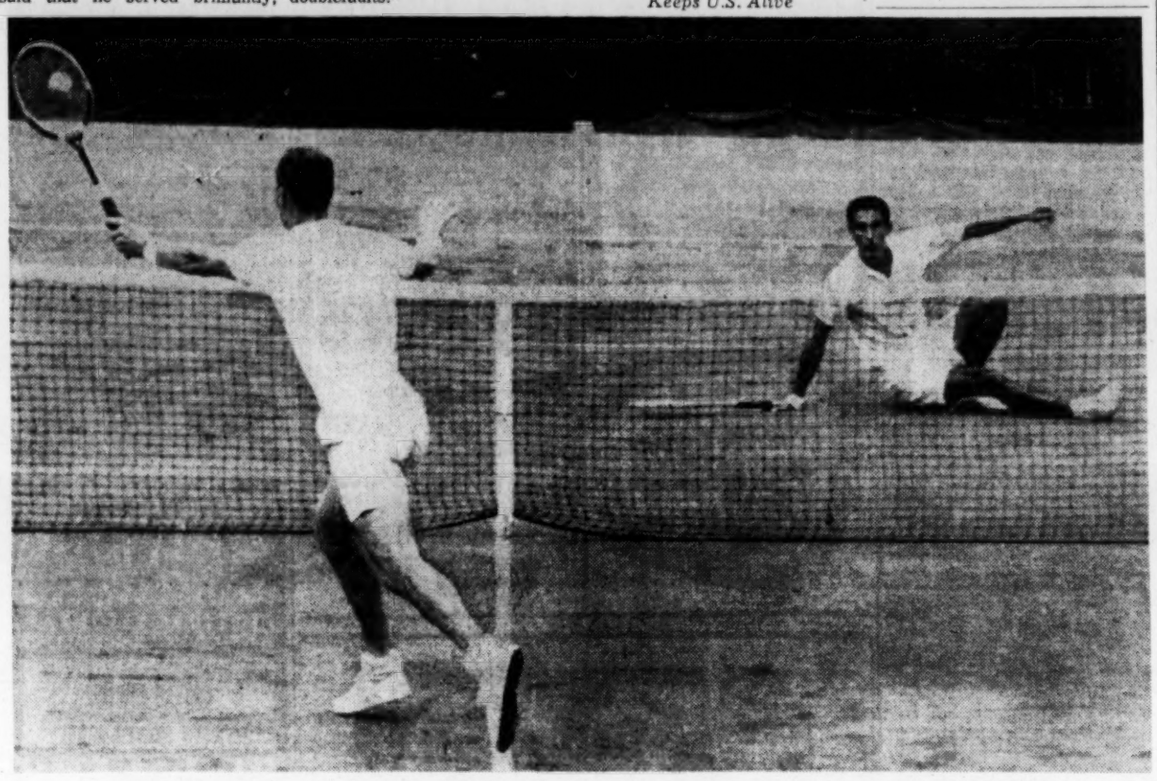

dropping his powerful delivery only twice—both in the second set. He was no better than Olmedo off the ground or at the net, where both were guilty of lack-lustre and faulty tennis.

He served two dozen aces—nine of them in the opening set. He served three in a row in the fourth game of the first set and two straight to pull out a game in the fourth set.

Both players appeared affected by the heat and served numerous doublefaults.

Ditmar Two-Hitter Snaps Yanks' String

Homering Hurler Halts Nats As N.Y. Takes First in Five

WASHINGTON (AP)—Art Ditmar pitched two-hit ball and drove in three runs with a homer and a single as the New York Yankees downed Washington, 4-0, to snap a four-game losing streak.

The only two Washington hits came with two out in the second inning. Billy Consolo singled and took second on a scratch single to second by pitcher Camilo Pascual. Ditmar erased that threat by getting Bob Allison on a ground out.

Only two Senators advanced as far as second and none beyond as Ditmar walked three and fanned two.

Pascual blanked the Yankees on three hits until Ditmar led off the fifth with a home run.

Blackout Hits Mac

Fort McPherson got three runs in the bottom of the second inning and was leading Fort Campbell, Ky., 3-0, Friday night when a power failure in Atlanta's West End blacked out the Fort Mac baseball park. Dick Tracewski's triple with the bases loaded put the Colonels in command. Danny Pfister had fanned four Campbell batters when the end came.

Speak Up!

By George Cunningham

DEAR SPEAK UP: I should sue coach Bobby Dodd for alienation of affections, but instead I'll get my two cents worth in.

Ever since we moved to Atlanta I've been served up large, indigestible portions of Dodd and Co., for breakfast, lunch and dinner. This gentleman is a greater menace to my home than Bugs Bunny or my Uncle Harry who is living with us and is a bum. I first became acquainted with Mr. Dodd across the breakfast table when either he or a member of his staff leered at me from the pages of a rather dull sports section. After reviewing the brave boys for several falls through the courtesy of Atlanta newspapers, I decided to sound off. I'm not exactly an expert on football nor am I an ardent sports fan. Mousetrap plays and quarterback sneaks sound like new names for juvenile delinquents. And I do not worship at the shrine of the immortal Dodd.

I can remember, long ago, when Mr. Dodd was not a member of my household. Back in "those good old days" my husband thought I was the only one in the world. Now all he wonders about is whether the "Coffin Corner Coach" can show up Ralph Jordan this coming season. Although your team may be destructible, Mr. Dodd, I am convinced you are indestructible. You may be the greatest thing since shredded wheat but I've got news for you. I HATE SHREDDED WHEAT Mrs. Joy S. Gemhill, Atlanta.

Dear Joy: You owe me two cents.

Braves Bash Cubs For Burdette's 18th

Aaron, Adcock and Crandall Collect Home Runs, 9-3

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hank Aaron, Del Crandall and Joe Adcock hit home runs Friday as the Milwaukee Braves whipped Chicago, 9-3, for Lew Burdette's 18th victory.

The third place Braves ran up a 7-0 lead in the first four innings then coasted to victory on Burdette's 17th complete game. He has 13 losses.

Aaron rocketed his 34th homer for Milwaukee's seventh run in the fourth inning. The ball impaled itself on a wire backstop at the rear of the deep left field bleachers. No one was on base.

Adcock drove his 20th homer—also with the bases empty—more than 400 feet into the center field stands in the third. Crandall hit his 16th later in the frame with a man on.

Frank Torre singled home Milwaukee's first two runs in the first inning. Eddie Mathews clubbed in the Braves third run with a second inning double.

The Braves' next three runs in the third chased starter Bob Anderson who had shut out Milwaukee 3-0 Monday night.

Anderson took the loss, his ninth in 20 decisions.

Giants Flatten LA With Mays' Punch

Willie's Three-Run Homer Locks Jones' Shutout, 5-0

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sad Sam Jones won his 17th game as the San Francisco Giants fattened their National League lead to three games Friday night by whipping second-place Los Angeles, 5-0.

Willie Mays supplied the bulk of the Giant offense with a three-run homer in the second inning after his double in the first had touched off a two-run rally.

The Giants, who had lost three in a row, were billed as a weary club, but they opened most energetically, accumulating seven hits and all their runs off loser Don Drysdale in the first two innings before a crowd of 66,068.

Jones, now 17-12, gave up eight hits but didn't walk a man and struck out 11. This was his fifth complete game against Los Angeles. In the five games he has allowed only five runs and has pitched two shutouts.

Drysdale, who was 14-6 at the second All-Star Game break early this month, suffered his fourth straight loss. He now is 15-10.

In 1 2-3 innings Drysdale was nailed for four doubles and a homer.

Willie McCovey, the remarkable San Francisco rookie, extended his hitting streak to 12 games with a double and a single and drove in a run. But Mays was the batting star with a homer, a double and a single in four trips.

The Giants now have whipped Los Angeles six times in nine meetings at the Coliseum this year, but the Dodgers still hold a 9-8 edge in the season series.

DAVIS CUPPERS BATTLE ON TV SCREENS TODAY

That American League race is in the homestretch, and TV-radio fans can pick up the Chicago White Sox' visit at Cleveland Saturday on WGST at 12:55 p.m.

If you're for TV, then the New York Yankees and Washington Senators go at it on WSB-TV (Ch. 2) at 12:55, and the Milwaukee Braves are at Chicago's Wrigley Field for a 12:45 visit with the Cubs on WAGA-TV (Ch. 5).

WSB-TV comes back later in the afternoon (at 5:30 p.m.) with the Davis Cup tennis matches, while WLW-A TV takes in local bowling featuring the junior finals match between Hank Alexander and Gordon Bahl at 5 p.m.

And if you go for pro football, there's the Detroit Lion-New York Giant game on WLW-A TV at 10 p.m.

Atlantans Study Baseball Future

A group of businessmen Friday formed the Atlanta Major League Sports Committee, not as a step of bringing major league baseball to the city but rather as a measure of determining the feasibility of same.

Co-chairman Carling Dinkler Jr. said the committee would hold a meeting next Wednesday to hear all the facts regarding the newly-organized Continental League and to take them under advisement.

"We want to thrash this out completely," said Dinkler. "Right now we are not talking about a stadium or anything else. First of all, we want to decide if the idea is acceptable.

"The chicken must come before the egg.

"If it is acceptable, we will move into another meeting."

Co-chairman with the hotel executive is Arthur Montgomery of the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Named to the committee were McKee Nunnally, Alfred Kennedy, Hughes Spalding Jr., Bill Ireland, Rankin Smith, Neil Irby and William Appleby of Atlanta and Eaton Chalkley of Carrollton.

The fact that Milwaukee baseball added $14,000,000 to that city's commercial trade last year impressed Atlanta businessmen, according to Dinkler. "We are going about this on a businesslike basis," he said.

Cards Clip Redlegs, 3-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe Cunningham blasted a double off the right field screen to drive in the tying and winning runs with two out in the ninth Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Cincinnati Reds 3-2.

Cunningham had been retired four straight times by loser Don Newcombe, who had a 22-10 career record against the Cardinals going into the game.

Newcombe, taking a 2-1 lead into the ninth, retired the first batter. However, Gino Cimoli delivered a pinch single and Don Blasingame walked with two out. Then Cunningham hit a 2-0 pitch for his game-winning double.

WAITING ON THE TIDE

Bulldogs Have Character, Size And Desire, Butts Tells Rally

By AL THOMY

Georgia Bulldog faithful, as enthusiastic as they have ever been over an opener, Friday night heard head coach Wallace Butts outline the nature of football project on Sept. 19.

"We know what Alabama is going to do," Butts told the Atlanta Bulldog Club.

"They are going to kick us back to the 20-yard line and hope we can run only 2-3 plays before having to kick out.

"That's where Bear Bryant likes to scrimmage, around the opponents' 20-yard line, hoping a fumble or a break will enable his team to carry it over from there.

"We know what they are going to do, and we've got to be prepared to stop them."

After a pause, Butts added: "I believe you will be proud of our people as individuals after Sept. 19. It's a tough game but we like it tough. We are not frightened at all. Our boys have been invited to return to school in condition."

Butts went on to describe the 1959 Bulldog edition as a team with:

(1) A lot of character; (2) good size, physically as fine a looking a team as he has had; (3) a great desire to do something for Georgia.

He reviewed the team, position by position. The loss of fullback Dave Lloyd to the pros is a blow, said Butts, but, he added, converted quarterback Tommy Lewis is a capable replacement and would get first crack at the post.

End Gordon Kelly typified Bulldog spirit in a brief talk to the assembly.

"I've been at Georgia three years," said the witty Kelley, "and Coach Butts has never said I was the smartest player there. Against Alabama, I not only plan to outhit 'em, I'm also going to outthink 'em."

This brought a pleased smile from Butts.

The Bulldog Club also heard from line coach J. B. (Ears) Whitworth, freshman coach Johnny Griffith, publicist Dan Magill and fullback Lewis.

"I'm happy to be home," said Whitworth, who rejoined the coaching staff during the winter.

Griffith, the man who did the recruiting, said he was happy with the freshman crop. "We've got some good backs and linemen," he commented.

OFF THE CUFF: Club president Rankin Smith presided over the rally at the Dinkler . . . Guests included Georgia trainer Sam Richwine and players Ray Clark, Pete Case, Bud Case, Paul Holmes, Fred Brown, Pat Smith, Jim Libbey and Jerry Hensley . . . Atlanta prep stars Mickey Babb and Carey Scott of Brown High were in attendance . . . Richwine said that Brown, who had a knee operation during the off-season, should be ready for full-scale drills on Sept. 1."

Hunt Joins Champ Campbell For National Amputee Lead

Ex-Lehigh Ace Turns in 79

Special to The Constitution

SAVANNAH—Tom Hunt, a 40-year-old former Lehigh University high jump star, fired a 36-43—79 here Friday to move into a tie with defending champion George Campbell Jr., for the National Amputee Golf tournament lead.

Hunt, who lost his right leg as the result of a jumping accident, matched par on the front nine over the Savannah Golf Club course. He came back in 43, but his 79 and first-round 80 left him deadlocked at 159 with Campbell.

Campbell, three-times winner of this tournament, turned in a 40-40—80 after a first-round 79. The 37-year-old Campbell, also a leg amputee, had trouble with No. 9 again Friday, turning in a double bogey. He met the same fate there Thursday.

Joe Avans Jr. Tied for Third

Two strokes back in third are Joe Avans Jr., of Forest Park, Wally Baskovich of Clearwater, Fla., Lou Monge, Silver City, N.M., and Bob Sandler, Des Moines, Ia. Avans and Baskovich carded 83s, Monge an 81 and Sandler a 79.

Mason, Hall Capture Georgia Ski Crowns

Champs Shine in Slalom, Other Events at Callaway

Special to The Constitution

PINE MOUNTAIN—Pug Mason of Gastonia, N.C., and Neil Hall of Anderson, S.C., Friday captured the overall titles as the Georgia Open Amateur Water Ski tournament opened shop at Ida Cason Callaway Gardens.

Miss Mason carried off first place in the difficult slalom event, then piled up 207 points and third in the tricks to win the overall women's honors on Robin Lake.

Hall, a 14-year-old, outlasted 18 challengers in the slalom course, picked up 365 points and a third in tricks, and soared 52 feet for second in the jumping event to win the boys overall crown.

Young Hall began the slalom per hour, eliminated his opponents at 30, then added perfect bonus runs at 32 and 34 to make run with a boat speed of 20 miles a clean sweep of this event.

Moultrie's Shardon Pickett, who finished third in the women's slalom, had never seen a slalom course until Thursday.

The tournament continues Saturday with the men's division. There are 81 entries in the three divisions of the tourney, first of its kind ever held here.

Chief judge for the events is Mrs. Leah Marie Atkins of Auburn, 1957 women's overall ski champ. Bo Callaway is tournament chairman.

WOMEN

Slalom — Pug Mason, Gastonia, N.C.; Suzy Logan, Birmingham, Ala.; Sharon Pickett, Moultrie; Betsy Callaway, Pine Mountain.

Tricks—Janie Sims, Jackson, S.C., 384; Joan Smith, Andalusia, Ala., 368; Pug Mason, 207.

Jumping—Jenny Hodges, Birmingham, Ala., 64 feet; Joan Smith, 47 feet.

Overall—Pug Mason.

BOYS

Slalom—Neil Hall, Anderson, S.C.; Eddie Bland, Salem, Ala.; Hollis Hand Jr., LaGrange; Joel Parker, Pine Mountain.

Tricks—Jon Acker, Anderson, S.C., 603 points; Jimmy Massey, Montgomery, Ala., 370; Neil Hall, 365; Robert White Jr., Fairfax, Ala., 305.

Jumping — Richard Barnes, Gulfport, Miss., 59 feet; Neil Hall, 52 feet; Jimmy Massey, 47 feet.

Overall—Neil Hall.

THE WINNAH!—Dot (Mrs. Jim) Clay brandishes her club and grins in a big grin after winning Capitol City Country Club's women's golf title. She defeated Dodie Garlington, the defending champion, Friday over the Brookhaven course.

Stingy Colts Stop 'Skins

BALTIMORE (AP) — The doughty defense of the Baltimore Colts hogged the attention again Friday night even though it gave up its first touchdown of the exhibition season in a 23-10 victory over the Washington Redskins.

The Redskins didn't cross the goal until the last minute of the game before 22,409 fans.

Gino Marchetti, the Colt's all-pro defensive end, ran 16 yards with a recovered fumble for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. Colt end, Don Joyce had knocked the ball loose from Washington quarterback Eagle Day.

Coach Weeb Ewbank mixed up his backfields, quarterback John Unitas with various units. The Colts marched 70 yards for a TD with the opening kickoff, the payoff coming on a 6-yard pass from Unitas to rookie end Jerry Richardson.

Quarterback Eddie LeBaron moved the Redskins 95 yards for a touchdown climaxed by a 16-yard pass to halfback Jim Podoley.

Washington	0	3	0	7	—10
Baltimore	7	3	10	3	—23

Washington: TD, Podoley (16 pass from LeBaron). PAT, Baker. FG, Baker (17).
Baltimore: TD, Richardson (6 pass from Unitas), Marchetti (16 fumble). PAT, Myhra 2. FG, Rechichar (48), Myhra 2 (21, 24).

Lloyd Jordan Succeeds Wade As SC Head

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Lloyd Jordan, former head football coach at Harvard, Friday was named commissioner of the Southern Conference succeeding Wallace Wade.

Selection of Jordan was announced by Dr. Frontis W. Johnston of Davidson College, president of the conference, after a meeting of the screening committee which has been searching for a new commissioner for more than two months.

Leffingwell Swells Lead In JC Golf Tournament

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Fritz Leffingwell Jr., a bespectacled 115-pounder from Miami Shores, Fla., stretched his lead to three strokes Friday in the third round of the International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament at Elizabeth Manor Country Club.

The Florida Junior champion shot a two-over-par 34-38—72 to go with previous rounds of 69-74 for a 54-hole of 215, three strokes in front for Ronnie Gerringer of Newport News, Va.

Gerringer added a 33-38—71, the day's lowest score to 75-72 for a total of 218. Maury Finkelstein of Savannah, Ga., coupled a 37-36—73 with 73-74 for 220.

Wright Garrett of Danville, Va., who was in second place Thursday, couldn't get his putter to cooperate Friday and carded 36-40—76, which with earlier rounds of 74-71 dropped into a fourth-place tie at 221 with four other players. They are Jimmy Gabrielson, Athens, Ga., who had 75-73-73; Ronald Smith, Manchester, Conn., 76-72-73; Steve Oppermann, Millbrae, Calif., 73-73-75; and Lynn Yturri, Ontario, Ore., 73-73-74.

Ballargeon Dumps Blassie

Adrian Ballergeon defeated Fred Blassie in 22 minutes Friday night in the wrestling main event at Paul Jones Arena.

In a mixed tag team match, Ed Sharpe and Kathryn Simpson whipped Ray Gumkel and Joan Pence. Jim LaRock drew with Sharpe.

You Can Win Press Trip

In conjunction with the Ford Motor Co., The Atlanta Constitution is again sponsoring a contest to select the high school student who shows the greatest promise of becoming an able newspaperwoman or newspaperman.

Winner of the contest will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the annual national press preview of Ford cars at Dearborn, Mich., in September, and will participate in all activities of the teen-age press conference. While attending the preview, the students will have the same editorial freedom as newspaper staff members.

The youth who, at the conference, demonstrates the greatest journalistic potential will receive a four-year scholarship to the college of his or her choice. The national winner will be selected by an independent group on the basis of his writing and reporting abilities, as demonstrated by the quality of stories he submits on the news conference, as well as by his scholastic average. Any high school student with a genuine interest in journalism may enter the contest.

Complete details on the contest will be announced on the Young Ideas page next Saturday.

Literary Tastes Are 'Gruesome'

"It's gruesome!"

That's the way a young journalist describes the literary tastes of students at her school, as evidenced by articles and stories they submit for "The Clansman," Georgia's only high school literary magazine.

"Murder, suicide, war are the most - used themes," reported Robertine Johnston, editor in chief of the Clansman. "Most of the things we reject are stories that have a lot of gory details, or syrupy poetry."

The unique magazine, published at Campbell High School in Fairburn, carries a good selection of material from a cross-section of the student body. Material ranges from plays ("such as "Dry Gulch Stage," by Jerrel Shell, that appeared in the last issue) to serious poems (such as "A Moment Alone" by Diane Choate) to thought-provoking articles (War — Why? by Claudia Thompson, and spine-tingling masterpieces (such as "The Thingamablob," by Bill Brennan and "The Ghost of Manchester Hall" by Anne Jeanes).

"Only a few write love," pointed out Renee Brooks, a member of the editorial board.

"Now, we're getting more science fiction, especially from the boys," added Robert Califf, another member of the board.

The entire staff must vote on each manuscript submitted before it is either accepted or rejected.

An "experimental" issue of The Clansman was first published two years ago, as an outlet for students' literary efforts. The format was changed last year, and current plans call for three issues during this school year.

In addition to Robertine, the staff includes Renee, Robert, Al Morris and Claudia Thompson, members of the editorial board; Joy Cochran, business manager; Margurette Norton, ad manager. Following the first couple of weeks of school, typists and art managers will be selected.

"We try to select a variety of material," Robertine continued, "to appeal to as many different readers as possible."

Trying to make The Clansman a self - supporting publication, the staff currently is at work on the first issue of this school year.

"We've worked until after midnight several times," a staff member declared. "Meeting deadlines is our biggest problem."

This year, the staff will introduce a trio of rejection slips: One will designate that the material has been "completely rejected," another will signify the article "has promise, and can be rewritten for publication"; the third will explain that the material will be held for further consideration for the next issue.

"Because of expenses," the pretty teen-age editor said, "we can only get out 32 pages.

"But it's amazing how much really good material is submitted."

CLINIC BOUND—These members of the cheering corps of North Clayton High School are among Georgia students who are attending the state YMCA cheerleaders' clinic at Rock Eagle this weekend to learn new techniques to put into school at sports events this fall. The North Clayton delegates include (front row) Mary Lynn Park, Sandra Bartlett, Sharon Hand, cocaptain, and Barbara Denmark; (back row) Becky Albert, Rita Thomas, Libby Whitehead and Nanette Thorson.

Youths Plan Impromptu Study Sessions

A group of Atlanta teen-agers are thinking ahead to add zest to those annual moan-fests, the study session. Claiming that afternoon clan gathering can jazz up a study period, they plan to put the idea into operation "as often as possible."

"Sounds kinda dull, I'll admit," one teen declared, "but think of all the helping heads we'll have."

The trick, they say, is to choose a subject agreeable to the majority. Different homes will be the gathering place, rotating among the group.

"And to make it easier for our parents, we'll take along box lunches—just in case we get hungry."

RECORD ROUNDUP

Peter Gunn's 'Edie' Makes Album

ALBUM APPLAUSE: The singing talent of Lola Albright, the Edie Hart that is Peter Gunn's heart interest on the popular teleseries, has never been exposed to best advantage on the web. But Lola shows she can handle any tune with the best of the sultry thrushes in her album debut, appropriately titled, "Dreamville." The dreamy voice of Miss Albright is going to be heard more and more often, and rightly so. Together with the orchestra under the capable direction of Hank Mancini, Lola delves into some old favorites and some newer tunes, in an electrifying manner that is immensely pleasing to the listener—any listener. In addition to the title tune, Miss Albright presents sultry, intimate renditions of "You're Driving Me Crazy," "Two Sleepy People," "It's Always You," "We Kiss in a Shadow," "Soft Sounds," "Sorta Blue," "Slow and Easy," and others. She has an almost hynoptic effect as she takes the listener with her through the delightful jazz of "Dreamville."

Andy Williams — Lola Albright

WELCOME WAXING: The Kingston Trio has its best bet for Hitville since "Tom Dooley" in new sock single, "Worried Man," with "San Miguel" as the flip. . . Andy Williams gives warm, rich treatment to "Summer Love," coupled with "Lonely Street," a coupling that should soar. . . Tommy Sands returns to the winners' circle with his smooth rendition of "I'll Be Seeing You," backed by equally pleasing "That's The Way I Am". . . Fabin has another sure hit in "Got The Feeling" and "Come on and Get Me" . . ."Richard Diamond's Blues" is the latest disc dandy inspired by a television series, this time the Richard Jason Sunday night starrer. Penned and waxed by Pete Rugolo, this will meet with approval of all the jazz buffs. Flip is rockin' instrumental, "Teenage Rock."

MOPPET MELODIES: Teenage baby-sitters can have good behavior bribes at the drop of a turntable by stocking up on Walt Disney's new, low-priced series aimed at pleasing the younger set. This fine series, priced under 50 cents, features six songs on each record, some are complete with the "how-to's" of simple games and dances for the little folk. "Song games and How to Play Them" include "Sho Jo Hi," a Japanese game. "The Friendly Farmer," "The British Grenadier" and others that will provide hours of wholesome entertainment.

"Goofy's Dance Party" introduces the "Shaggy Dog Cha Cha Cha," "Sweet Shop Rock," "1925 Charleston," "Shaggy Dog Shag," among others. "Sing a Song With Mickey" invites the younger set to join in some delightful melodies, including "Schnitzlebank Song," "Old McDonald," "Do Mi So," "Hi To You," "The House That Jack Built" and "Simple Simon."

U.S. COUPLE PIONEERED IN ISRAEL FOR SIX YEARS FILLED WITH HARDSHIPS AND FULFILLMENT

The Margolies and Their Three Sons Plan Eventually to Go Back to Israel

Adventures in Living

My Son Was Born in Jerusalem While Arabs Shelled the City

By MRS. JOSEPH MARGOLIES
As Told To Harriette Weinstein

Can you imagine? I was sitting in a bomb shelter in Jerusalem with my Dr. Spock book telling me about all the fresh air I should get, all the wonderful foods I should eat and that I should have no worries.

Meanwhile, here I was in the bomb shelter. We were eating grass; we got a half can of water a day if we were lucky, and my husband was outside fighting with the Israeli Army.

But my first son was born fine, in the ambulance en route to the hospital while the Arabs were shelling the city. In fact, the nurse rushed him into the hospital and forgot all about me. And my husband, Joe, was serving in the Army, so I was all alone.

MET AT YOUTH CLUB

But back to the beginning. Actually my husband and I met (both were born and grew up in the United States) in a youth group training youngsters for eventual life on a collective farm (Kibbutz) in what was then Palestine.

By 1941 we were unofficially engaged. Then World War II broke out and Joe enlisted.

At the end of the war we were married. Then we worked to save money for our immigration to Israel as pioneers.

We got off the boat and got into a bus convoy heading toward Jerusalem when the Arabs began their seven-month siege. The rifles sounded like firecrackers. And at first I couldn't understand the gravity of the situation.

MOTHER SCREAMED

Then my husband's mother screamed. The man next to her was hit and fell over her. When we finally got to Jerusalem safely, there were bullet holes in our suitcases and my husband's clothes were bloody.

That was our introduction to the Promised Land. Literally, we started off with a bang.

Very few of the men in the country had any military training. So Joe was in demand. He became a commander with 30 men in his group. Between them, they had exactly nine rifles.

We discovered nothing in the world mattered more than water. We did without electricity or kerosene lamps or candles; we did without food and substituted grass. But there was nothing you could substitute for water.

Jerusalem, situated on top of a hill, was dependent upon the other cities for everything. What we had was what the convoys managed to get up the hill.

One day a meat convoy got through and I waited in line for hours finally to get one live carp. I took it home, put it in the bathtub to save for a Sabbath meal since we hadn't had meat or fish in so long. But this lively carp flipped out of the tub and into the toilet. So we had beans again for the Sabbath.

Finally, when the siege was over, we went out to establish a new Kibbutz. Ours was the farthest south of Tel Aviv in the Gaza strip, nearest the Arab border. With us were the remnants of a very brave group who had held off the Arabs on their attacks on that section of the Gaza Strip. Yet the average age on the Kibbutz is 17.

I'd been trained to raise chickens while Joe learned mechanics. But when I casually mentioned I liked to cook, everyone stared. No one else did. So I spent the two years on the Kibbutz as a dietician for the two kitchens.

Later we moved back to Jerusalem where Joe became a tourist guide.

FATHER ILL

When my father became ill, we decided to come back to the United States. We couldn't afford just to visit with our two sons. (The second son was also born when Joe was away—he had just left to serve his military duty. "We're on leave from the Army nine months of the year.")

So we came back to this country. But we are tentatively planning to go back to Israel in two years. Joe hopes to go to start building us a home next summer.

NO DISPARAGEMENT

We don't mean to disparage American life. We owe it a great deal. Whatever spirit of adventure we have, we got from America.

We just feel that the youngsters in Israel grow up with more substance to them. We are both teachers in Atlanta. And we feel we have the authority to say that, having worked with youngsters of all ages.

A high school diploma in Israel really means something. It's the equivalent of two years of college in this country. You can teach or do many other things. To get those extra years of work, necessarily the children study hard. Here a girl wouldn't say she couldn't date because she has to study. In Israel, they have dates to study.

America offers a wonderful life. For some, being like everyone else is fine. For our children, we feel it is important for them not to be in this conformity.

No story is more exciting or more touching than the real life "Adventures in Living" and these adventures are best told by you, the person who lives them. We would like to hear your story. Send to Hariette Weinstein in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Parties Greet Former Atlantans Visiting Here From New Mexico

By YOLANDE GWIN

Mrs. D. C. Shepherd is relaying her exciting news that her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Nelson, now of Albuquerque, N. Mex., will arrive next week for a visit here. The former Edith Shepherd, Mrs. Nelson and her husband, Maj. Nelson, will come to Atlanta to enter their daughter, Cay, in the freshman class at the University of Georgia. The visitors will be the inspiration for a number of informal social events while the guests of Mrs. Shepherd and her son, Douglas Shepherd, at their home in Ansley Park.

BUT VISITS must end and that goes for another popular Atlanta couple who have been in the social spotlight.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adair Jr. and their children bade them farewell yesterday for the attractive family left to return to their home in Caracas, Venezuela. Mr. and Mrs. Adair have been here several weeks following a trip around the world during which time their children, Cameron, Lee and Dixon stayed with Mrs. Adair's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen McConnell on Woodward Way.

A GAY WHIRL of parties has honored a charming French visitor this summer and her departure for her home next week brought this comment from her: "How can I ever thank everybody? It will be impossible! But anyway I will say thank you and hope the message carries through!"

She is Mrs. Lakme Restellini who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. T. B. Jackson and Mr. Jackson, at their home on St. Charles avenue. She goes back to her home in Nice on the French Riviera where she and her doctor husband have lived for some time. They previously resided in Tangier and it was while there that she made her first visit to Atlanta some 10 years ago.

"I think now that our friendship and understanding is complete between our two countries," she said. "In addition to the beauty of the city and the surrounding country and the many lovely and hospitable people here, you will never guess what one of the things impressed me the most? It is being able to go into the shops and handle and examine all the merchandise. We cannot do that at home! You cannot imagine how interesting it was. You can be sure I did a lot of shopping."

One of the very special things she enjoyed was hearing her daughter sing in the Pops concerts for this season.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FERGUSON of Chapel Hill, N.C., are attending many of the debut parties during their stay here with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linton Hopkins, on Peachtree Battle avenue. Mrs. Ferguson is the former Nina Hopkins and her marriage was one of the top social events of the summer. Her sister, Mary, is a member of the debutante coterie.

WORD COMES from the University of Wisconsin in Madison that Carol Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins of this city, is among some 400 Tri Delta members attending a Leadership School on the college campus.

THE MAIL BOX says "The K. Cottage," is the name Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kuniansky have given their lovely new home on Jekyll Island, where they have just moved. They formerly resided at 1421 E. Rock Springs Court here.

THE MILITARY SET gathered to welcome a new first lady this week. A tea at the Officers Club at Dobbins Air Force Base honored Mrs. William H. Wise, wife of the commander of the 32nd Air Division.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Wise were Mrs. James Isbell, president of the Wives Club, and Mrs. William M. Bower, wife of the base commander. Assisting was Mrs. George Wilson, wife of the commander of the 445th Air Reserve Wing.

MRS. GEORGE HONGOLD and Mrs. Dan Hankey will motor to Chattanooga Saturday to spend the day with their sisters, Mrs. Pemberton Cooley and Mrs. Ed Latimer, at their home on Lookout Mountain.

AN OPEN HOUSE to bid bon voyage to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Manning is scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

The honor guests will sail from New York on the S.S. Queen Mary on Sept. 2 for a tour of Europe. The trip is a wonderful climax to Mr. Manning's business career which terminates on Aug. 31 when he retires from the Southern Freight Assn. They are scheduled to return to the States on the Queen Elizabeth in October and before coming back to Atlanta they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Manning in Richmond, Va.

Hosts for the open house will be Jack and Tom Manning, sons of the honor guests, and their wives, who will entertain at the Jack Manning home on Highbrook drive.

MANY OUT-OF-TOWN guests are in the city this weekend to attend the marriage of Mary Schaler and Frank Simmons Jr., which takes place Saturday at 4 p.m. at the Holy Trinity Church in Decatur.

Among them are Jane Schaler of Wilmington, Del.; Linda Simmons of New York City; Mrs. John G. Chiles and her daughter, Betty, from Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Iverlett and their son, Joe, from Nashville, Tenn.

Ogling Is Out!

DEAR GEORGE:

Don't you think a man at the beach looks absolutely silly ogling every girl that comes by?

—TESSIE.

DEAR TESSIE:

Come to think of it, I don't ever remember seeing a man at a beach. I suppose, however, they would look silly ogling every girl that comes by. The thing to do is pick out one view and stick to it: an undisciplined, darting gaze is a certain sign of a disorderly mind, and can also lead to inadvertently walking off the pier. Giant 'Shine Still Seized in Charlton

A squad of lawmen from four jurisdictions seized a mammoth moonshine distillery in Charlton County Friday and set their sights on what may be a major interstate liquor conspiracy.

The State Revenue department said Georgia and Florida revenue agents, members of the Charlton County sheriffs office and federal agents grabbed an "unusually large distillery" and a big van truck used in supplying the moonshine operation.

One man, identified as Junior Thompson of Charlton County, was arrested at the scene of the raid, the department said.

DIDN'T REVEAL NAME

In an official release, Revenue Commissioner Oxford said the distillery was "believed to be owned by a liquor law violator who lives in Florida." He did not reveal the owner's name.

Another spokesman for the department said the owner is "a big operator who stays strictly in the background and never goes near the stills himself." He said a warrant has not been issued for the alleged owner's arrest.

"This thing may wind up eventually in a big federal conspiracy case," he said. "If a conspiracy is proven, the owner probably won't be arrested until after he is indicted.

"We're trying to trap him now."

Oxford said the federal, state and county officers seized 500 gallons of moonshine, about 4,000 galons of mash and the big truck in the raid.

CONSISTED OF 7 STILLS

He said the distillery consisted of seven 2,000-gallon stills.

The raid was the climax of an investigation begun several days ago when revenue agents seized more than 1,200 gallons of moonshine in a house in St. George, 23 miles south of Folkston.

Meanwhile Friday Oxford continued his crackdown on retail beer dealers charged with infractions of state revenue laws.

Six dealers were fined $100 a piece and put on probation for a year. One of the retailers was charged with selling beer on election day. The rest were charged either with selling on Sunday or selling to minors.

Oxford listed those charged as: H. V. Thompson, owner and operator of H. V.'s Place, near Sylvester, charged with selling to minors.

J. C. Ramsey, Charlie's Place, Albany, selling on Sunday.

A. H. Akridge, Akridge Grocery and Market, Albany, selling to minors.

Leroy McCall, Leroy's Oyster Bar, Albany, selling to minors.

J. D. Coleman, Johnnie's Cafe, Albany, selling on Sunday.

Bob Barber, Bob's Grill, Austell, selling on (Aug. 18 city) election day.

Overhaul Jury Setup, Judges Ask

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Two Fulton County judges Friday recommended a complete revision of the county's juror selection system and the installation of one similar to that now used in Wayne County, Mich.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore of Fulton Superior Court and Judge A. Henson of Fulton Civil Court said in a letter to the county's commissioners that considerable savings could be effected by the revision.

They recommended that the commissioners discuss with leading members of the local bar associations and local state legislators with the possibility of drawing legislation to adopt the system here.

FIRST CHANGE IN YEARS

If adopted, the new system would be the first change in Fulton's juror selection system in many years. It would be operated by a jury commission made up of members appointed by Superior Court judges or the county commissioners.

The two judges studied the Wayne County system at work in the circuit court there while recently attending the meeting of the National Association of County Officials.

In discussing the advantages of the system, Judges Moore and Henson said it would relieve the judges of an immense amount of administrative work, divide jury duty among eligible persons impartially, keep the jury list current every three months, dispense with "professional jurors" and avoid extensive courtroom questioning periods.

MASTER LIST USED

Under the Wayne County system, jurors are selected from a master list of registered voters. The jury commission's executive secretary selects every eighth name and summonses these persons for questioning on their qualifications.

The secretary selects enough names to serve the courts for three months and sends each a questionnaire on his qualifications, age and any physical disabilities.

Jurors qualified for a particular calendar quarter, but who are not needed, are carried over for a succeeding calendar quarter. When the list is exhausted, along with the carry-overs, a new one is made up, beginning with the second on the list and every succeeding eighth name.

'LOVES' CEDARTOWN VISITORS

Mrs. Stanga Faces Long Wait In Prison Before Slaying Trial

Constitution State News Service

CEDARTOWN — An Atlanta woman in jail here since last Dec. 2 learned Friday that she might spend another six months behind bars before she faces trial on a murder charge.

But Mrs. Loraine Icey Tate Stanga, 28, mother of two and wife of a convict, was philosophical: "I've had a lot of visitors and haven't really had time to get lonesome."

Sol. Dan Winn of Polk County Superior Court said Friday that Mrs. Stanga's trial in the slaying of Virgil Glenn Gray Jr., 48, Lawrenceville mortician, had been continued until the February term of court.

Winn said the delay was necessary because Dr. A. S. Koenig of Ft. Smith, Ark., could not be here to testify. Winn said Dr. Koenig was the physician who examined Gray's body after it was found by hunters in a remote hill section near Ft. Smith.

Mrs. Stanga and William Hoyt Ledford, 44-year-old ex-convict, were charged with murdering Gray last October.

The state charged that the pair stuffed the 285-pound Gray into the trunk of his car in Atlanta, drove to Cedartown where they shot him, and then drove to Arkansas where they dumped the body. They were arrested in Oklahoma.

In a May trial here, Ledford was found guilty and sentenced to the electric chair July 3. The execution was stayed following an appeal motion. No date for a new trial hearing has been set, and Ledford remains in the local jail.

Mrs. Stanga was not tried at the May term of court.

During her long months of confinement she has prettied up her cell, ordered preparation of her food, made a lot of friends and generally managed to pass the time without too much worrying about her past . . . or her future.

In her cell she has draperies, magazines and a small radio. Her bed has a striped bedspread. She also has her own private bathroom and shower.

Mrs. Stanga was given permission to have someone buy groceries for her and to prepare her meals. Of prison food, she says: "I don't know what it is . . . it just doesn't taste like a home-cooked meal."

Of her visitors, she says: "I love the people in Cedartown. You know, I come from a small town in Oklahoma near Red River and the folks here are just like them.

"I like to talk like a typical woman and, with my reading, it has helped pass the time away."

Board Probes 'Pressure' In School Milk Buying

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Complaints that "pressure from higher-ups" was applied to induce some school principals to divide business or switch to new dairies in purchase of milk for school cafeterias will be aired.

Allen L. Chancey Jr., chairman of the Atlanta Board of Education's cafeteria committee, Friday promised a meeting of his committee before the Sept. 14 meeting of the board after Harold F. Jackson, a member of Chancey's committee and Second Ward representative, requested it.

The reports of "pressure" met prompt and categorical denial by A. C. (Pete) Latimer, board president, and several principals at whose schools milk purchases were switched. There have been persistent rumors that some officials have urged principals to divide business with smaller producers.

Jackson said he heard rumors of pressure and asked for a meeting of the cafeteria committee.

"I heard of the pressure," Jackson said. "Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. I think we should get to the bottom of the matter to see if anything unethical has been done."

Latimer said several of the smaller dairies had complained to him and other board members that they could not get any cafeteria business. He said he asked Clifford Bull, director of school cafeterias, to send a list of dairies supplying school cafeteria milk and that the record showed that three of the larger processors provided 81 per cent of the milk used.

"I thought there could be more distribution, but I never used any pressure to get any principal to change dairies," Latimer said.

"I think that any dairyman wishing to help provide the milk supply should be able to present his case if he is qualified and furnishes a product meeting health and quality specifications."

Bull said he had "heard a noise about the milk purchases," and added that Foremost, Irvindale, Southern Dairies and Atlanta Dairies were considered the "big four" in milk sales to cafeterias in Atlanta schools.

Fire Board Session

A scheduled meeting of the Atlanta board of firemasters for next Monday night has been postponed until Sept. 28, it was announced Friday.

East Point Man Indicted in Rape, Robbery

A 30-year-old East Point man was indicted on three charges Friday, two of which involved the rape and robbery of a 39-year-old deaf mute. The third charge was burglary.

The Fulton County grand jury made the charges against James C. Tedder of 1277 E. Mercer Ave., East Point, who police said signed a confession admitting the assault and robbery of the woman.

Officers said the deaf mute was severely beaten by Tedder in the assault and she suffered two broken cheek bones. Tedder was indicted in the Aug. 21 burglary of The Biro Manufacturing Co., 2234 N. Sylvan Rd., East Point.

He is being held without bond on the robbery and rape charges in the Fulton County Jail.

Head-On Crash Kills Motorist

MACON—Walter F. Bryan, 54, of Macon was fatally injured Friday in the head-on crash of two automobiles in Bibb County.

Bryan was injured at 2:25 p.m. in the crash four miles east of Macon on U.S. Highway 80, the patrol said. He died at 7:55 p.m.

Hilton's Son Starts Huge Airport Inn

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the multi-million-dollar Hilton Inn to be completed near the Atlanta Airport within eight months were attended Friday by Conrad N. Hilton Jr. and Joseph P. Binns, vice presidents of Hilton Hotels Corp.

The inn will be built by Hogan Bros., Inc., general contractors, and operated by a Hilton subsidiary under a "long-term lease" with contractor-developer M. H. Hogan of New Orleans.

The 10½-acre site fronting 550 feet on Virginia avenue is near a proposed interchange on the airport access expressway.

Inn facilities will include 310 guest rooms in 12 two-story buildings, a 30,000-square-foot central building housing the lobby, administrative offices, dining facilities, meeting rooms and private club for local residents, an 18-hole putting green, a wading pool and two swimming pools (one for members of the private club), and parking areas with space for about 500 cars.

Guest rooms in the quadrangle of buildings will overlook a central courtyard with garden and recreation areas. The inn was designed by George A. Saunders, New Orleans architect.

GEORGIA NEWS

Raise Tax Assessments, Chatham Teachers Ask

Chatham County teachers called Friday for stepping up property tax assessments throughout the state as a move toward aiding Georgia's education system.

The Chatham Education Assn. unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the next General Assembly to require counties to adjust their property tax digests up to at least 40 per cent of the "market value."

Most counties currently operate under a policy of assessing property at a drastically small percentage of the actual market value, but at the same time levy the taxes at comparatively high rates.

The association meeting, attended by virtually all white teachers in the county, adopted a resolution proposed by F. Hemans Oliver, chairman of the association's legislative committee.

In fact, a suit filed in Bibb Superior Court charged, the Rev. A. M. Dantley acts like he "owns the church." He "gained possession of keys . . . and is withholding same . . ." the suit charged.

The suit was brought by Will Hudson, James Royal and Joe Fowler, who listed themselves as trustees and deacons.

Pastor Ouster Sought

Three officials of the Smith Street Baptist Church in Macon have sought court action to oust a pastor they charged refused to leave the pulpit although officially ousted a year ago.

Hypnosis Can Dull Pains, Doctors Told at Seminar

Hypnotism, once frowned upon as a dark inscrutable magic, came into use some years ago as a psychoanalytic technique.

And now its therapeutic possibilities are being explored as well by the medical and dental professions.

To learn more about it, Atlanta area doctors and dentists are attending a three-day seminar at the Biltmore Hotel. The session is benig conducted by nationally known practitioners of hypnosis.

One authority, for example, was explaining at Friday night's session how a crippling back pain can be transferred to the little finger or to the big toe as an insignificant pain.

Doctors were batting around such terms as "second trance resistance" and "somnambulistic rapport."

Dr. Milton H. Erickson of Phoenix, Ariz., one of the instructors, has built a reputation partly by the practice of something he calls "permissiveness."

Some patients, he says, are bound and determined to have pain. "So you give them permission to have it but in a way that won't handicap them," he explained.

Protest Halts Movie Show In Fayette

The owner of the 85 Drive-In movie in Fayette County stopped a showing of "The World, The Flesh and the Devil" Friday night after a group of citizens objected to it.

Oscar Kilgo, the owner, said one of the men told him not to show any more "immigrant type" movies on his screen. The film, he said, showed one Negro and two whites working toward a common goal.

Kilgo said he complied readily with the request and that he suggested that the county set up a censor to determine what could be shown. He said the group was not belligerent.

"I am going to see the Fayetteville Council to see if we can get someone to tell us what to show," Kilgo said. He said it was the first incident in five years at his location.

Miss Alley, Economist, Dies Here

Miss Maria Alley, 65, a home economist in the food service division of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, died late Thursday in a private hospital. Her home was at 1472 Clairmont Rd., Decatur.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Memorial Chapel at Macon. Burial will be there.

Miss Alley, born at Jasper, Tenn., was a graduate of the University of Tennessee. She had worked for the government for more than 25 years, and had been a resident of the Atlanta area for about 15 years.

She was a member of the American Assn. of University Women, and several civic organizations.

Survivors include three brothers, John Thomas Alley, Montgomery, Ala.; Alexander Alley Sr., Macon, and Col. Robert C. Alley, USA (ret.), Pensacola, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. George B. Marsh, Rogers, Arkansas.

Car Runs Sign, Slams Another, Killing Driver

A 39-year-old Columbus man was killed Friday night when his car was struck by another auto which had run through a stop sign in Oconee County, the State Patrol reported.

He was identified as Peyton David Breckenridge, of a Reese road, Columbus address. The patrol said the impact of the crash, which occurred about 11 miles west of Athens on U.S. 78, knocked Breckenridge from his car and threw him beneath the overturning vehicle.

Boy Injured Playing With Dynamite Cap

Experimenting with a dynamite cap Friday landed an 11-year-old boy at Grady Hospital with multiple injuries.

Joe Ben Mercer, 204 Thirteenth St., NE, suffered injuries to the face, left wrist and left arm, Detective J. F. Inman said. He was treated at Grady Hospital.

The cap exploded when the youth toched it against a flashlight battery, Inman said he was told. He added the youth told of finding several dynamite caps Thursday night on the sidewalk at Peachtree and Thirteenth Sts., Northeast.

First Baptist At Hapeville to Mark 75 Years

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"Now, as in the past, our Sunday congregations are made up mostly of women and children."—Church news quote.

Those long weekends have brought about . . . A lot of changes in our lives . . . Although some of the more devout . . . Still go to churches with their wives . . . Some take a Roman holiday . . . And they don't care how far them roam . . . So long as they can get away . . . From things which should be done at home.

So, mama's left to hold the bag . . . Deserted by the careless spouse . . . A team of horses couldn't drag . . . Away from some small "meeting-house" . . . In days when he was courting her . . . And he appeared to be a saint . . . So, she remembers how they were . . . Comparing that with what they "ain't."

Those long weekends provide the time . . . For them to be together when . . . The church-bells in the steeples chime . . . Their invitations to all men . . . So do not wait until you're old . . . To occupy the family pew . . . The next time that "the bells are tolled" . . . It could be they are "tolled for you."*

(*With apologies to Mr. Hemingway.)

Your Stars Today

Daily Guide — Have fun and recreation this weekend, relaxing rather than being too active. The accent is on pleasure, good companionship, witty talk, stimulating ideas discussed, and some little unexpected things which add variety. If you can't be free to enjoy vacation plans, at least take advantage of the optimistic atmosphere in which to relax tense nerves. This should be a generally smooth period as the summer draws to a close. It can be social and sprightly, and provide a chance to do things a little differently instead of in the old routine.

Happy birthday, Virgo! The time to act has been this month, but you still have another week in which to push all your personal affairs and to take decisive action on new and old projects. Next month the accent is on finances; watch the outgo, as the urge could be to spend too much. Improved domestic conditions can make home base a much happier place in the fall. You can turn to older friends or loved ones for support this year and next, with hope of happy social or romantic opportunities next year. Keep mentally clear and your everyday affairs well organized.

500 Naval Reservists To Meet Here

Some 500 members of the Naval Reserve Assn. from all over the country are expected in Atlanta Oct. 8, 9, and 10 for the association's national conference.

The conference will be held at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel.

Captain Harry Rogers, USNR, and Commander Thomas M. Hurley, USNR, both of Atlanta, have been named cochairmen for the conference. Commander Hugh H. Howell Jr., USNR, is vice president of the association for the Sixth Naval District, comprising the southeastern states.
